PRODUCING NAVY HEROES TO CONFOUND HIM

REP. REID CHALLENGES RIGHT OF MAJ.-GEN. GRAVES TO SIT ON JURY CLAIMS HIS ACTIONS ON BOARD SHOW HE IS NOT IMPARTIAL

By WILLIAM J. McEVROY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 1. — The army today continued to assail the charges of Col. William Mitchell against the navy by producing navy heroes to confound him.

Lieut. Commander Richard E. Byrd, leader of the naval flyers of the MacMillan expedition, was brought to the court to defend the performance of the amphibian planes used in the polar regions last summer.

Commander Byrd is relied upon by army prosecutors to testify that the Loening amphibian planes performed efficiently in the ice area and to say that the curtailment of exploration by air was due to the bad weather conditions.

After a heated exchange of words in the court martial, Representative Frank Reid, Mitchell's lawyer today challenged the right of Major General William S. Graves, to sit further as a member of the jury of generals.

"I hereby challenge General Graves to sit longer as a member of this court," said Reid, "for the reason that his actions while on this court show that he is not impartial and that he has repeatedly interfered by his conduct with my examination of witnesses and that in justice and fairness to the accused, Gen. Graves should no longer be permitted to sit as a member of this court."

"I therefore, insist on my right to challenge him."

The court refused to accept Reid's challenge and announced that Graves would continue to sit as a member.

Just before this outburst on Reid's part it became known that Brig. Gen. Edwin L. King's characterization of the cross examination of prosecution witnesses as "damn rot" had been reported to Secretary of War Davis.

It was taken to Davis in compliance with regulations that require a report on the use of any improper language by members of a court martial.

The incident was thought to have been closed by the action of the court in expunging King's words from the record.

Reid grew angry and denounced Graves after the general had made a comment, which was not heard by those in the court room, to Col. Blanton Winship, law member of the court. At the time Reid was questioning the first witness of the day, Capt. F. W. Yarnell.

"You cannot lecture on my privileges," Graves shot back. "I have a right to object to cross examination when I want to. I do not acknowledge the right of Mr. Reid to lecture me. If what he had stated is going into the record I want it to show that he is incorrect."

The court went into executive session and Reid made the challenge when it returned.

Major General Robert L. Howse, court president, announced that Graves' remarks were intended to uphold the dignity of the court and another executive session was held to consider the challenge.

The new ill-feeling broke out after General Howse announced he had reported to Secretary of War Davis the incident of last Friday in which Brigadier General Edwin L. King characterized Reid's cross examination as "damn rot."

The action is required by military procedure, Howse said.

"The court announces that the challenge is not sustained," Howse said, when the court returned. "The member will continue to sit as a member of this court."

Graves sought to make a statement but Reid objected. Howse then ordered another secret session after which he announced that Graves had withdrawn his request to make a statement. Reid then resumed examination of Yarnell.

The child, a boy, stopped breathing a short time after it was born. Dr. Victor J. Taugher was called to the Richter home to officiate at the expected arrival. He was assisted by a nurse and two medical students.

They worked over the baby 30 minutes before calling the lungmoter squad.

SIX ALLEGED BOOTLEGGERS QUESTIONED

IN CONNECTION WITH FATAL SHOOTING AT WISCONSIN ROADHOUSE

NO INFORMATION GIVEN OUT BY AUTHORITIES ON PROBE MADE

Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., Dec. 1.—Six men, said to be connected with bootlegging and moonshining activities in central Wisconsin were rounded up last night and questioned by Wood county authorities in connection with the fatal shooting here Friday night of Ray Davis and the wounding of William Bauer.

Although Sheriff C. W. Bluett, who is conducting the investigation assisted by R. S. Payne, chief of police here, has refused to give out any information regarding the progress of the probe, the calling of the six men is believed to indicate the trend of the investigation.

It was learned through county authorities that Davis on the day of the shooting had offered to sell a roadhouse proprietor a twenty-gallon jug of moonshine which he said to have carried in his motor truck.

This jug has not yet been found, although officials searched the truck and the roadhouse where the shooting took place.

The investigation took Sheriff C. W. Bluett, Wood county, and several deputies to Stevens Point today.

Reasons for the trip to Stevens Point were not given, although it was said the sheriff is attempting to learn the whereabouts of certain men on the night of the shooting.

Several men called in for questioning yesterday have been released. Although the Sheriff's office here today refused to give out much information regarding the outcome of the investigation, the men were pressed confidence the slayers would be apprehended within a short time.

Bauer's condition was much improved. Authorities intimated he would be questioned again as soon as he gets stronger.

MIAMI'S FLOOD LEAVES TRAIL OF MUD AND DEBRIS

Miami, Fla., Dec. 1.—(UP)—Leaving behind a trail of mud and debris, Miami's flood which placed this famous winter resort under nearly two feet of water following a terrific rainstorm Sunday night receded today. The damage to Miami alone is expected to run into thousands. Lobbies of hotels and first floors of business houses were overrun with the high water and a careful check was under way to estimate the losses. Hialeah, a suburb of race tracks and other sporting attractions, also suffered considerably from suspension of business.

TROPICAL STORMS ROAR ALONG COAST

COMES IN THE WAKE OF CLOUD BURST IN FLORIDA

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 1.—(UP)—A tropical gale roaring along in the wake of the most severe rainstorm in the history of the state, lashed the west coast of Florida during the night, causing heavy damage. Five were reported killed.

Meanwhile, on the east coast the cities of Miami and Palm Beach were recovering from the effects of a 14-inch rainfall which did considerable damage to these two famous winter resorts.

Miami wallowed in two feet of water and alone suffered losses of $250,000.

Bright, warm sunshine in Miami and Palm Beach aided these two tourist cities in applying the broom and water hose to the mud and debris left by the flood.

But on the western coast the gale was the worst in recent years. Telegraph and telephone lines were torn down, leaving cities without communication with the outside world. Power plants went out and there were no lights and electricity to operate street cars.

DRY LEADERS MEET TO FIGHT BEER REFERENDUM

MASSING FORCES ON PROPOSED WISCONSIN PLEBISCITE

SEEK LEGAL ACTION TO PREVENT MATTER PUT TO A VOTE

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 1.—Dry leaders meet here today to lay battle plans for opening the court fight on the proposed Wisconsin beer referendum.

Headquarters committee of the Wisconsin Saloon League has been called into session for this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. to decide when court action will be brought to prevent the Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman from certifying on the November election ballot next year the referendum on whether the voters want the Volstead act modified in favor of beer.

D. L. McBride, state superintendent of the League, declared today the "drys" are not going to cause any confusion by delaying the test case until just before it becomes the duty of the secretary of state to make up the ballots. He said the League is willing and anxious to have the issue submitted to the court within the near future.

In anticipation of the proceedings to prevent the secretary of state from certifying the referendum to the ballots, it was learned today the "wets" have prepared a brief and are ready to file it on short notice.

The referendum was provided for in a resolution adopted by the last legislature and the secretary of state will place it on the ballot unless the Anti-Saloon League wins a court decision on the point that the legislature blundered in not passing a bill instead of adopting a resolution.

According to McBride the headquarters committee will also discuss at length the strengthening of its law enforcement program under which the League is co-operating with federal and county officials.

CHRISTMAS LIQUOR BEGINS SEEPING INTO UNITED STATES

By JOSEPH S. WASNY
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Dec. 1.—Christmas liquor began flowing into the United States from rum smugglers ships as the coast guard withdrew 12 cutters from the dry navy patrol for navigation protection work.

Under an executive order by President Coolidge the cutters gave up their work for law enforcement and took over the task of protecting maritime life and property. This necessary maneuver, however, left the dry navy in a crippled condition.

As soon as the cutters began steaming away to winter posts, rum row began to re-organize off the New England shore. Half a dozen foreign vessels laden with holiday booze supplies were reported anchored off shore between New York and Cape Cod.

FREIGHT TRUCK SERVICE MAY BE FARMERS' MOVE

J. F. REED, OF MINNESOTA FARM BUREAU, TESTIFIES AT HEARING

SAYS IT WILL BE USED TO COMBAT ANY HIGHER FREIGHT RATES

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—(UP)—A freight truck service will be established by northwest farmers if the railroads are allowed to increase rates, J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, told the Interstate Commerce commission representative hearing evidence on the application of 74 western roads for higher freight charges.

"If rates are increased, transportation by motor bus will be increased in the livestock business and shippers are now considering establishment of a freight truck service," said Reed. "This will, without a doubt, result in a decrease in traffic for railroads."

The hearing started here yesterday and will continue today at the state capitol. It is one of a series being held throughout the west. The first was in Chicago.

CHARGED WITH SUBORNATION OF PERJURY

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—(UP)—The trial of Frank King, charged with subornation of perjury starts today. The jury was selected yesterday and testimony will be heard at once.

Harold G. Gadbois, whom King is charged with suborning to give untrue testimony in the trial of Ben and Abe Gleeman, will be among the first witnesses. He pleaded guilty to perjury in Judge Hanft's court Monday.

In the first trial of Ben and Abe Gleeman for the killing of Burton Stevens last February, Gadbois testified that they did the shooting. In the second trial he testified that two strangers fired the shots.

Gadbois did not tell the true story Monday when tried in Judge Hanft's court but is expected to relate the facts of the case when called to the stand today.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—John Sovetsky of Chicago went on trial here today charged with receiving $100,000 in stolen property, nearly all of it from Green Bay, Wis. LOCARNO PACTS SIGNED TODAY TO KEEP PEACE

STATESMEN OF 7 NATIONS ASSEMBLED AT ENGLISH FOREIGN OFFICE

SIGNING CONSTITUTED GREATEST VOLUNTARY PEACE MOVE IN THE OLD WORLD

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Dec. 1.—The Locarno European security pacts were signed today.

Statesmen of seven nations assembled in a reception room of the foreign office and affixed their names to a series of documents binding Western Europe to keep the peace. The signing ceremony constituted the greatest voluntary peace move in the history of the old world; marked the beginning of a new post war phase in the relations among the former warring nations and signalled the official re-entry of Germany into the European concert of nations after 11 years of absence.

The next step toward making peace instead of war reign in Europe is expected to be a disarmament conference, preparations for which are already being considered under League of Nations auspices.

Today's ceremony occurred within a reception hall unused for many years but polished and furnished anew for this historic gathering. An hour before the signing, throngs assembled in the vicinity of the foreign office to cheer the delegates but were driven off by the police. It was 11:21 A. M. when the signing of the security pact itself started. This took four minutes but the whole ceremony for all pacts required seventy-two minutes.

Once the great room had filled with statesmen and journalists of many nations, Sir Cecil Hurst, the foreign office's legal adviser, opened the proceedings with routine details as to credentials and as to slight textual changes in the original drafts.

Then Foreign Secretary Chamberlain—now Sir Austen by virtue of Knight of the Garter honors conferred upon him by the king for his Locarno achievements—proposed that the signing proceed.

The usual diplomatic custom of signing according to alphabetical order (in French) was followed. Thus Germany—"Allemagne"—in French—headed the list with Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy, Poland, Czechoslovakia, following.

The historic documents are to be deposited within the files of the League of Nations at Geneva, with any ratifications by parliaments of the affected lands.

Europe—the breeding ground of the world's worst wars—today for the first time in its history was given the first order to stack arms.

Representatives of France, Germany, Italy, Great Britain and Belgium today signed the Locarno Pact, guaranteeing the sanctity of the blood drenched frontier between France and Germany along which the armies of Europe have clashed for 20 centuries.

By the terms of the treaty Germany, France and Belgium have agreed to submit disputes to the council of the League of Nations while Italy and Great Britain have agreed to fly to the defense of either side of the frontier actually threatened by an invading army.

In the eyes of the statesmen of Europe the signing of the Pact looms in importance far above its actual terms. They see in its psychological effect upon the people of Europe the effective lifting of the cloud of suspicion which has persisted since the great war and the advancement of the peaceful efforts of the League, of disarmament, and of the general cause of arbitration.

The terms of the Pact strike directly at the heart of the causes which bred the last war and which many have feared were foreshadowing another greater war to come.

The leading nations of Europe have definitely promised to cease aggression. Frenchmen and Germans have no longer cause to fear the artificial border which separates them.

The inviolability of Germany's present western frontier is guaranteed. France, Belgium and Germany are bound not to attack each other. Britain and Italy have agreed to intervene against any aggressor, no matter whom.

Germany, Belgium and France have undertaken to try to settle peacefully all questions arising between them. This means that where the dispute has become too involved

DRY LEADERS MEET TO FIGHT BEER REFERENDUM

MASSING FORCES ON PROPOSED WISCONSIN PLEBIS- CITE

SEEK LEGAL ACTION TO PRE- VENT MATTER PUT TO A VOTE

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 1.—Dry leaders meet here today to lay battle plans for opening the court fight on the proposed Wisconsin beer referendum.

Headquarters committee of the Wisconsin Saloon League has been called into session for this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. to decide when court action will be brought to prevent Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman from certifying on the November election ballot next year the referendum on whether the voters want the Volstead act modified in favor of beer.

D. L. McBride, state superintendent of the League, declared today the "drys" are not going to cause any confusion by delaying the test case until just before it becomes the duty of the secretary of state to make up the ballots. He said the League is willing and anxious to have the issue submitted to the court within the near future.

In anticipation of the proceedings to prevent the secretary of state from certifying the referendum to the ballots, it was learned today the "wets" have prepared a brief and are ready to file it on short notice.

The referendum was provided for in a resolution adopted by the last legislature and the secretary of state will place it on the ballot unless the Anti-Saloon League wins a court decision on the point that the legislature blundered in not passing a bill instead of adopting a resolution.

According to McBride the headquarters committee will also discuss at length the strengthening of its law enforcement program under which the League is co-operating with federal and county officials.

CHRISTMAS LIQUOR BEGINS SEEPING INTO UNITED STATES

By JOSEPH S. WASNY
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Dec. 1.—Christmas liquor began flowing into the United States from rum smugglers ships as the coast guard withdrew 12 cutters from the dry navy patrol for navigation protection work.

Under an executive order by President Coolidge the cutters gave up their work for law enforcement and took over the task of protecting maritime life and property. This necessary maneuver, however, left the dry navy in a crippled condition.

As soon as the cutters began steaming away to winter posts, rum ran began to re-organize off the New England shore. Half a dozen foreign vessels laden with holiday booze supplies were reported anchored off shore between New York and Cape Cod.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 1.—(UP)—William Oxford, 8, was the sole survivor today of an automobile crash that resulted in the death of nine persons when their machine was struck by a Frisco lines passenger train near Achillon Station, Arkansas, late Monday.

The boy is in a critical condition.

The train, going south at 50 miles an hour knocked the machine for a distance of 40 feet. Cotton pickers in a nearby field blame the driver of the machine for the crash.

The dead were:
Clem Oxford, 33, and his four children; Lawrence Oxford, Clem's brother, and his wife and their two children.

FREIGHT TRUCK SERVICE MAY BE FARMERS' MOVE

J. F. REED, OF MINNESOTA FARM BUREAU, TESTIFIES AT HEARING

SAYS IT WILL BE USED TO COM- BAT ANY HIGHER FREIGHT RATES

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—(UP)—A freight truck service will be established by northwest farmers if the railroads are allowed to increase rates, J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, told the Interstate Commerce commission representative hearing evidence on the application of 74 western roads for higher freight charges.

"If rates are increased, transportation by motor bus will be increased in the livestock business and shippers are now considering establishment of a freight truck service," said Reed. "This will, without a doubt, result in a decrease in traffic for railroads."

The hearing started here yesterday and will continue today at the state capitol. It is one of a series being held throughout the west. The first was in Chicago.

CHARGED WITH SUBORNATION OF PERJURY

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—(UP)—The trial of Frank King, charged with subornation of perjury, starts today. The jury was selected yesterday and testimony will be heard at once.

Harold G. Gadois, whom King is charged with suborning to give untrue testimony in the trial of Ben and Abe Gleeman, will be among the first witnesses. He pleaded guilty to perjury in Judge Hanft's court Monday.

In the first trial of Ben and Abe Gleeman for the killing of Burton Stevens last February, Gadois testified that they did the shooting. In the second trial he testified that two strangers fired the shots.

Gadois did not tell the true story Monday when tried in Judge Hanft's court but is expected to relate the facts of the case when called to the stand today.

ON TRIAL ON CHARGE OF RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—John Sovetsky of Chicago went on trial here today charged with receiving $100,000 in stolen property, nearly all of it from Green Bay, Wis. Chicago police decided to prosecute Sovetsky here when Gov. Len Small refused extradition papers demanded by Wisconsin officials who wanted him tried in Green Bay.

Sovetsky is known to local authorities as "the million dollar fence." It is charged that thieves raided stores around Chicago and placed their loot with him.

Green Bay merchants have identified most of $100,000 worth of goods found in Sovetsky's garage as having been stolen from them.

LOCARNO PACTS SIGNED TODAY TO KEEP PEACE

STATESMEN OF 7 NATIONS AS- SEMBLED AT ENGLISH FOR- EIGN OFFICE

SIGNING CONSTITUTED GREAT- EST VOLUNTARY PEACE MOVE IN THE OLD WORLD

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Dec. 1.—The Locarno European security pacts were signed today.

Statesmen of seven nations assembled in a reception room of the foreign office and affixed their names to a series of documents binding Western Europe to keep the peace. The signing ceremony constituted the greatest voluntary peace move in the history of the old world; marked the beginning of a new post war phase in the relations among the former warring nations and signaled the official re-entry of Germany into the European concert of nations after 11 years of absence.

The next step toward making peace instead of war reign in Europe is expected to be a disarmament conference, preparations for which are already being considered under League of Nations auspices.

Today's ceremony occurred within a reception hall unused for many years but polished and furnished anew for this historic gathering. An hour before the signing, throngs assembled in the vicinity of the foreign office to cheer the delegates but were driven off by the police. It was 11:21 A. M. when the signing of the security pact itself started. This took four minutes but the whole ceremony for all pacts required seventy-two minutes.

Once the great room had filled with statesmen and journalists of many nations, Sir Cecil Hurst, the foreign office's legal adviser, opened the proceedings with routine details as to credentials and as to slight textual changes in the original drafts.

Then Foreign Secretary Chamberlain—now Sir Austen by virtue of Knight of the Garter honors conferred upon him by the king for his Locarno achievements—proposed that the signing proceed.

The usual diplomatic custom of signing according to alphabetical order (in French) was followed. Thus Germany—"Allemagne"—in French—headed the list with Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy, Poland, Czechoslovakia, following.

The historic documents are to be deposited within the files of the League of Nations at Geneva, with any ratifications by parliaments of the affected lands.

Europe—the breeding ground of the world's worst wars—today for the first time in its history was given the order to stack arms.

Representatives of France, Germany, Italy, Great Britain and Belgium today signed the Locarno Pact, guaranteeing the sanctity of the blood drenched frontier between France and Germany along which the armies of Europe have clashed for 20 centuries.

By the terms of the treaty Germany, France and Belgium have agreed to submit disputes to the council of the League of Nations while Italy and Great Britain have agreed to fly to the defense of either side of the frontier actually threatened by an invading army.

In the eyes of the statesmen of Europe the signing of the Pact looms in importance far above its actual terms. They see in its psychological effect upon the people of Europe the effective lifting of the cloud of suspicion which has persisted since the great war and the advancement of the peaceful efforts of the League, of disarmament, and of the general cause of arbitration.

The terms of the Pact strike directly at the heart of the causes which bred the last war and which many have feared were foreshadowing another greater war to come.

The leading nations of Europe have definitely promised to cease aggression. Frenchmen and Germans have no longer cause to fear the artificial border which separates them.

The inviolability of Germany's present western frontier is guaranteed. France, Belgium and Germany are bound not to attack each other. Britain and Italy have agreed to intervene against any aggressor, no matter whom.

Germany, Belgium and France have undertaken to try to settle peacefully all questions arising between them. This means that where the dispute has become too involved

The Banker Said "Leave It Alone"

A circular came to her through the mail. It showed how land values were going up. It gave glowing promise to investors of making "big money."

This school teacher needed more money to support her invalid mother. She consulted her banker about the investment.

"Leave it alone," he said. "Any chance to make big profits may be a chance to lose. You cannot afford that."

Then he helped her secure some safe investments.

"Are you Sam Kirby's girl?" Miller inquired. When Rouletta nodded he removed his hat, then he extended his hand. "Shake," said he. "Now I've got you. You've had a hard time, haven't you? We heard about Sam and we thought you was dead. Step in here and set down." He motioned to the tiny little office which was curtained off from general view.

Rouletta declined with a smile. "I really want work as a dealer. That's the only thing I can do well. I came here first because you have a good reputation."

"Kirby's kid don't have to deal nothing. She's good for any kind of a stake on his name."

"Dad would be glad to hear that. He was a great man. He ran straight." Rouletta's eyes had become misty at Miller's indirect tribute to her father; nevertheless, she summoned a smile and went on: "He never borrowed, and neither will I. If you can't put me to work I'll try somewhere else."

"How did you get down from White Horse?" Miller inquired, curiously.

"Poleon Doret brought me." "I know Doret. He's aces."

"Can you really deal?" Best broke in.

"Come I'll prove that I can." Rouletta started for the gambling-room and the two men followed. Best spoke to his partner in a low voice: "Say, Ben, if she can make a half-way bluff at it she'll be a big card. Think of the play she'll get."

But Miller was dubious. "She's nothing but a kid," he protested. "A dealer has got to have experience, and, besides, she ain't the kind that belongs in a dump. Somebody'd get fresh and—I'd have to bust him."

There was little activity around the tables at this hour of the day; the occupants of the gambling-room were, for the most part, house employees who were waiting for business to begin. The majority of these employees were gathered about the faro layout, where the cards were being run in a perfunctory manner to an accompaniment of gossip and reminiscence. The sight of Ben Miller in company with a girl evoked some wonder. This wonder increased to amazement when Miller ordered the dealer out of his seat; it became open-mouthed when the girl took his place, then broke a new deck of cards, deftly shuffled them, and slipped them into the box. At this procedure the languid lookout, who had been comfortably resting upon his spine, uncured his legs, hoisted himself into an attitude of attention, and leaned forward with a startled expression upon his face.

The gamblers crowded closer, exchanging expectant glances; Ben Miller and Morris Best helped themselves to chips and began to play. These were queer doings; the case-hardened onlookers prepared to enjoy a mildly entertaining treat. Soon grins began to appear; the men murmured, they nudged one another, they slapped one another on the back, for what they saw astonished and delighted them. The girl dealt swiftly, surely; she handled the paraphernalia of the faro-table with the careless familiarity of long practice; but stranger still, she maintained a poise, a certain reserve and feminine dignity which were totally incongruous.

When, during a pause, she absently shuffled a stack of chips, the Mocha Kid permitted his feelings to get the better of him. "Hang me for a horse-thief," he snickered. "Will you look at that?" Now the Mocha Kid was a ribald character, profanity was a part of him, and blasphemy embellished his casual speech. The mildness of his exclamation showed that he was deeply moved. He continued in the same admiring undertone. "I seen a dame once that could deal a bank, but she couldn't pay and take. This gal can size up a stack with her eyes shut!"

Nothing could have more deeply intrigued the attention of these men than the sight of a modest, quiet, well-behaved young woman exhibiting all the technique of a finished faro-dealer. It was contrary to their experience, to their ideas of fitness. Mastery of the gaming-table requires years of practice to acquire, and not one of these professionals but was as proud of his own dexterity as a fine pianist; to behold a mere girl possessed of all the knacks and tricks and mannerisms of the craft excited their keenest risibilities. In order the more thoroughly to test her skill several of them bought stacks of chips and began to play in earnest; they played their bets open, they copped, they split, they strung them, and at the finish they called the turn. Rouletta paid and took; she measured stacks of counters with unfailing facility, she overlooked no bets. She ran out the cards, upset the box, and began to re-shuffle the cards.

Big Lars stubbornly backed his luck, but the bank continued to win, and meanwhile new arrivals dropped in. Two, three hours the play went on, by which time all Dawson knew that a big game was running and that a girl was in the dealer's chair. Few of the visitors got close enough to verify the intelligence without receiving a sotto voce warning that rough talk was taboo—Miller's ungodly clan saw to that—and on the whole the warning was respected. Once only was it disregarded; then a heavy loser breathed a thoughtless oath. Disapproval was marked, punishment was condign; the lookout leisurely descended from his eyrie and floored the offender with a blow from his fist.

REVIVAL MEETINGS

To Continue All This Week at The Full Gospel Assembly, Just Across The Hill

Yielding to the demands of the crowds, Evangelist F. Webster Tyler of New York has postponed the opening of campaign in Minneapolis and has consented to remain in Brainerd another week. Service every night at 7:45 sharp.

The evangelist preached two powerful sermons on Sunday to large audiences. In the afternoon his subject was: "Christian Service in the Light of the Cross" or "Life Through Death." More than a score of young people consecrated their lives to the Lord for service—whatever, whenever, wherever.

In the evening, Rev. Tyler spoke from his life text found in Philippians the third chapter and tenth verse: "That I may know him and the power of his resurrection and the fellowship of his sufferings being made conformable unto his death."

By way of introduction, the evangelist told his hearers that he could trace his ancestry back to several of the royal families of Europe and that John Alden and Priscilla Mullins who came over in the Mayflower were his eighth great grandfather and grandmother and hundreds of his relatives fought in the Revolutionary war, "but, he cried, I count all these things but loss for the transcendent preciousness of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord for whom I have suffered the loss of all things and do count them but refuse."

At the close, in response to the evangelist's appeal a large number sought the Lord at the altar. Tonight Mr. Tyler will preach on the subject: "Jesus Christ the same Yesterday, and Today and Forever."

All the people of Brainerd are most cordially invited to all services.

BODY OF MINISTER FOUND DEAD IN ROOMING HOUSE

Minneapolis, Dec. 1.—(UP)—The body of the Rev. Knute B. Birkeland, missing since early last week, was found today in a rooming house here.

No marks of violence were found and the cause of death is unknown. Birkeland was last seen Tuesday when he appeared in court while a jury was chosen to try his suit against a Minneapolis attorney for $5,000, the outgrowth of stock transaction.

The former minister's family expressed fear of foul play since Birkeland first disappeared. The defendant in his suit charged Birkeland with hiding purposely to make the trial impossible.

County Commissioners in Movement to Preserve Timber Along Roads

ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

President is Walter M. Murphy, Secretary E. G. Roth

The county commissioners, realizing that the new process for the making of pulp is tending to rapidly deplete our jack pine forests, and by so doing, robbing our highways of their scenic beauty, ask that something be done to preserve them. Nothing is more beautiful than to drive along one of our Crow Wing county roads through green jack pine, birch, white pine and norway trees. It is our beautiful highways that attract the tourists as much as our beautiful lakes. When you realize that a tourist leaving from an Iowa or a Missouri town, or any point north of there, does not strike a shady drive until he reaches Brainerd, you know the sight appeals to his imagination and makes him come again and again.

The commissioners realizing this and being far-sighted, asked that an organization be formed to form sentiment throughout the county and our north country, to preserve a strip of timber along our highways. There is no law requiring any land owner, on a land adjacent to the highways, to preserve such a strip and no such law is desired. Yet, the desire is to have these owners take a pride in keeping a beautiful strip of timber along the main highways.

Acting under this request, a group of Crow Wing county citizens met at the court house on November 21st to form the nucleus of an organization which has for its object the preserving of the natural beauties of our roads and lakes. Literature is to be published and given out, showing the advantage of keeping our highways and lake shores well timbered. No name has as yet been designated for the association.

A prize of $10 in gold is being offered by the association to anyone sending a name to the secretary of the association that will be adopted as its permanent name. All names must be submitted by January 1st, 1926. If more than one name is submitted of the one chosen, the one that is first received will receive the prize.

The following officers were elected for the association: President, Walter M. Murphy, Brainerd, and Secretary, E. G. Roth, Brainerd.

FLAT REJECTION OF GOV. PINCHOT'S PEACE PROPOSAL

INDEFINITE PROLONGATION OF ANTHRACITE STRIKE NOW PREDICTED

OPERATORS COMMITTEE SEEKS LONG TERM WORKING AGREEMENT

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—(UP)—With the flat rejection of Gov. Pinchot's proposals for suspension of the anthracite strike by the operators' committee yesterday, indefinite prolongation of the coal strike was predicted by coal men here today.

"The mine operators seek, in settlement of the present suspension some form of long term working agreement," Major W. W. Inglis, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, said in explaining the operators' rejection of the Pinchot plan of settlement.

"That will enable them to reasonably guarantee a supply of anthracite for some time to come. It is the desire of the operators to sell their coal, not to dispute continually with their labor."

In rejecting the proposals of Gov. Pinchot which provide a modified check-off and a board of investigation and award who had no power to reduce wages during the term of the Pinchot agreement, the operators expressed belief that "only on the ground of misunderstanding could the governor have submitted 'proposals that so completely fail to meet the necessities of the situation.'"

Oldtime Purses

From the wearing of the pouch at the side, in the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries, we trace the origin of the poke, or pocket, where, according to Shakespeare, it was customary to carry one's dial. Henry VIII of England carried a purse of red satin embroidered in gold, and under Catherine de Medic perfumed leather purses became the rage and cost at the time as much as $30 apiece.

FLAT REJECTION OF GOV. PINCHOT'S PEACE PROPOSAL

INDEFINITE PROLONGATION OF ANTHRACITE STRIKE NOW PREDICTED

OPERATORS COMMITTEE SEEKS LONG TERM WORKING AGREEMENT

Philadelphia, Dec. 1. — (UP) — With the flat rejection of Gov. Pinchot's proposals for suspension of the anthracite strike by the operators' committee yesterday, indefinite prolongation of the coal strike was predicted by coal men here today. "The mine operators seek, in settlement of the present suspension some form of long term working agreement," Major W. W. Inglis, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, said in explaining the operators' rejection of the Pinchot plan of settlement.

"That will enable them to reasonably guarantee a supply of anthracite at a fair price to their customers for some time to come. It is the desire of the operators to sell their coal, not to dispute continually with their labor."

In rejecting the proposals of Gov. Pinchot which provide a modified check-off and a board of investigation and award who had no power to reduce wages during the term of the Pinchot agreement, the operators expressed belief that "only on the ground of misunderstanding could the governor have submitted 'proposals' that so completely fail to meet the necessities of the situation."

Oldtime Purses

From the wearing of the pouch at the side, in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, we trace the origin of the poke, or pocket, where, according to Shakespeare, it was customary to carry one's dial. Henry VIII of England carried a purse of red satin embroidered in gold, and under Catherine de Medici perfumed leather purses became the rage and cost at the time as much as $30 apiece.

WE NEED WATERWAY IMPROVEMENTS

THE interior of the United States, that is the country bordering the Mississippi river, has been termed the inland empire. But it is an empire no longer. Without adequate waterways, the Mississippi and St. Lawrence, this inland domain pays a high tribute in freight rates, and no relief seems in sight.

The inland empire threw no monkey wrenches in the Panama canal improvement. The Panama canal brought in its train an increase in coastwise shipping and consequently Washington, Oregon, California on the west coast and New York and New England states and southward including Florida have flourished. They get their lumber from the west coast cheaper than we can ever hope to get it in Brainerd.

We need the Mississippi restored and so improved that shipping can be carried on from the twin cities to New Orleans. We need the St. Lawrence waterway so that Duluth will be made an ocean port and Brainerd will then be but a mere hundred miles from such a port. Building the St. Lawrence waterway will so increase freight business out of Duluth that the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific will have to be double-tracked. More freight trains means more repair work at our N. P. shops.

The middle west helped to put the Panama canal through and now in turn the rest of the United States should help this section improve the Mississippi and St. Lawrence.

Governor Christianson, speaking at St. Louis in the interest of the Mississippi improvement for navigation said that forty million men and women who occupy a territory 10 times as large as France, who raise 75 per cent of the nation's wheat, and 65 per cent of its corn, who mine 85 per cent of its iron and 39 per cent of its copper, will not much longer submit to the handicap of being economically isolated.

Ten thousand miles of coastline, making the heart of the continent to border on the sea, can be made available to the middle-west through improvement of waterways at a cost less than the Panama canal.

Agriculture which has been suffering distress from which it now only partly is emerging, would be greatly benefitted, since a contributing factor to agricultural depression has been excessive transportation cost.

As stated by President Reed of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, grain will then be shipped without breaking cargo and at a great saving in freight. Mr. Reed figured as high as seven cents will be saved on every bushel raised in the middlewest.

THE BANDIT PEST

EVERY day you read of bandits doing their work in Minnesota. The twin cities seem to harbor most of these unwelcome guests. Filling stations, jewelry stores, grocery stores, weekly pay rolls of factories, seem to be easy prey for these men of the underworld.

Outside of the twin cities, a few counties have organized ranger associations to cope with bank bandits.

Illinois is having such a dose of bandits that the Chicago Tribune says America is once more on the frontier, for on the frontier there is no law. Instead there are notices of rewards for bandits, dead or alive, preferably dead, and the law is a primitive thing left to vigilantes and six shooters. America has come to this pass.

Head hunting is on in earnest. "The six bandits who shot Policeman Patrick O'Shea and escaped with $57,760 belonging to the Drovers' National bank are worth $2,000 apiece to the person or persons who capture them alive. They are worth $3,500 apiece to the person or persons who can deliver them dead."

"The Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association offers a reward of $2,500 for each dead bandit, with the remark that it is a cold blooded business to place a price on human life, but that the necessity of protecting the lives of their members, their employes, their patrons, and the money entrusted to them demands it."

"Cass county, Ill., bankers have raised the reward for a dead bandit from $1,000 to $2,000. The Illinois legislature is expected to pass a bill setting aside $50,000 to be paid out in bounty, $1,000 each time a bandit is killed. The Chicago Jewelers' association has a standing offer of $2,000 apiece for bandits slain robbing a jewelry store."

"Illinois is not alone in its return to the methods of the vigilance committee. In Milwaukee the Clearing House association offers $2,500 for a dead bandit and only $1,000 for one taken alive. Beloit, Wis., offers $1,000 for a bandit killed robbing a bank. Porter county, Ind., bankers post a similar bounty, as do those of St. Joseph county."

"The ordinary course of law enforcement has broken down. America, at least in the middle west, has no more law than did the frontier and has been driven to frontier methods."

WHAT HAPPENS TO THE OLD MOVIE PICTURES?

We have often wondered what became of the old moving pictures and have at last partially solved the mystery. We remember the first ones we saw, and they were merely scenes, no plots, the most familiar being bathers jumping from a dock, and to add excitement, the reel was reversed and all the bathers popped back on the planks. The first scenarios were hodgepodge affairs, very short at that—for instance, a boy smoking his first cigar, a trained horse eating a woman's hat and such stuff.

Motion Pictures magazine of current issue, referring to the various Hollywood parties by screen stars, mentions that entertaining at the Talmadge's houses is always informal, even at formal dinner parties. Norma is quite likely to jump up, and get something she needs on the sideboard without ringing for the servants, and Buster Keaton, who was a vaudeville acrobat, often rolls up the rugs in the drawing room afterwards, and turns flips-ups and takes comedy falls.

"The Talmadge girls have the largest collection of ancient films in existence, and when they want to give their guests a good laugh, they have one of these antiques thrown on the screen in their private projection room." So that's where some of the old-time films have found a haven of refuge.

The Aitkin County Game Protective League will hold a banquet and social hour at the Aitkin Odd Fellow hall on December 10.

HENNEPIN county has 181,000 motor vehicles.

The GOLDEN RULE in PRACTICE

A series of articles by prominent leaders on the Golden Rule as a guide in International Relations.

BEST EXPRESSION OF FRIENDSHIP

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

The reports of the observance of International Golden Rule Sunday last year in fifty countries, and its far-reaching results in training orphans in the Near East, have been of great interest to me. This expression of brotherhood inevitably has a beneficial influence upon those who give as well as those who receive.

As practical help is the best expression of friendship, I feel that the aid which America may give out of its prosperity to those impoverished by war may be of the utmost value in the promotion of international good will. The consistent observance of Golden Rule Sunday cannot but help to bring about the application of the Golden Rule to the misunderstandings of nations and individuals. I earnestly hope that the voluntary observance of this day may become increasingly prevalent in the homes of America and throughout the world.

That rule of ethical guidance which we designate as the Golden Rule is common to all great systems of religion and to the entire philosophy of human relationship.

It is a rule worthy of all acceptance, and to be translated into the terms of relationships among communities and peoples, among races and nations. Those among us who are required to give consideration to the difficult and complicated relations between the great communities of the world; those whose concern is for the maintenance of peace, of mutual helpfulness and generous cooperation among the nations, will do well to keep always in the front of our thoughts this simple precept. America is ready today, as always, to do its full share. It wants the peace of good will and of the Golden Rule; not the peace of force imposed by those who have power. It does not want peace as an interlude of brightness here and there in a world still addicted to war. It wants peace as the normal, the assured estate in a world from which a wiser generation shall have forever outlawed aggressive war.

Golden Rule Sunday will be observed throughout the United States in December, on behalf of the Near East Relief. This series of articles, by prominent public men who are supporters and spokesmen for this great philanthropy, is designed to call public attention to the background and purpose of the work and its need for general support.

MUSIC NEWS

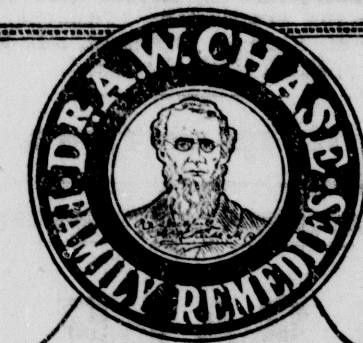

About the biggest news is the wonderful reception given the new ORTHOPHONIC VICTROLA, of our store. Everybody's talking about it, and with good reason, for not in a decade has there been an instrument for its reproduction of tone to even compare with it. And the price is a matter of surprise for many said they expected it to be $400 or $500, instead of only $275 for largest type. The only thing that worries us is, can the factory supply the demand? Place your orders now if you want one for Christmas.

Sold our last Grebe Synchronphase Saturday. Expect more in this morning by express. Just received some new Sonora receivers, which for selectivity and volume are very hard to beat. Any one desiring a good radio would do well to come in and investigate this wonderful Sonora which is put out by the Sonora Phonograph Company, also the maker of the famous Sonora Loud Speaker. We have a good selection of Music Masters on hand, ranging in price from $60 to $450.

We have most of our Christmas stock in the way of Banjos, Guitars, Ukeles and other stringed instruments, as well as a nice line of Accordions and Harmonicas, German make.

Have a good supply of peppy new Victrola records. Also new player rolls and sheet music.

The scouts from Aitkin are to attend and they will receive awards for advancement. There will also be six boys raised to the rank of star scout and there will be quite a number of merit badges given out at this time.

The Scout Master wishes to announce winter camp which will be held at Clearwater lake December 28th to 31st inclusive. The cabin will be covered with building paper and a hot air heater will be put in to make the cabin real comfortable. The boys are going out week ends to get everything in readiness for the 28th. Only first class scouts will be eligible to this camp, and in view of the fact that only 16 boys can be made room for, there is going to be a real scenter to see who goes, as they are anxious to be out there.

Starting today, December 1st, efficiency contests will be conducted to grade all troops in the council on all scout activities on a 100 per cent basis, and any troop getting 85 per cent will get an efficiency streamer. The method being used for grading troops is similar to that used by Minneapolis council, Fargo, N. D., and Aberdeen, S. D., and in fact councils spread over quite an area, so that when we get in our first monthly reports, we will be able to tell how the troops stand with reference to troops not only of our own council, but also Minneapolis and other councils. CHAPTER 3 (Continued)

The summer after I was a Sophomore, my pal Henry Nolan and I undertook a bumming trip to unknown ports. We were each equipped with a knapsack and carried a small put and other necessities. Our mode of travel consisted of hailing every car that passed us for a "lift" and in this manner we saw all Eastern Minnesota. Our itinerary included Itasca Park, Bemidji, the range towns, Superior National Forest, Canada, then south to Duluth and Minneapolis, and home. It took us three weeks and we covered a distance of one thousand miles, of which we walked about twenty.

Sometimes we stopped overnight at lumber camps buried in virgin forests, where deer and moose would stand along the road and gaze at a chance passerby. Once we slept in the middle of a cemetery, another time in a bandstand in the middle of a city, again in the stables of a fair grounds. We moved from place to place in Fords, Packards, Chevrolts, Rolis Royces, freight trains and horse-drawn wagons. It was a real adventure.

So far I have not said anything of my musical ambitions. I started to take piano lessons when I was nine years old and have had Prof. Bartsch, Mr. Palmer and Mr. Pflock as teachers. During the last two years, I have been in the high school orchestra.

A grueling tale of absent vittles and empty tummies, the Mayflower compact and Easter lilies as told by an absent member of the American Union of animated can openers.

In the governor's house in Boston the caretaker of the great seal of the state of Massachusetts was cleaning the nut shells out of the said seal in preparation for the time, but a day away now, when it was to be formally affixed to the governor's proclamation of Thanksgiving.

Outside the streets of Boston were thronged with the merry crowd. Boston in those days was a large city having a Sunday population of about twelve to each family. They all stayed home, too—the Florida land boom was nothing in their lives, and N'Yawk was a little town containing Peter Stuyvesant, two saloons, and 20 people.

Still further outside the woods were filled with eager Puritans, who ever and anon would boom away with their amateur cannons at some unsuspecting but necessary portion of a Thanksgiving dinner. They were out to get turkeys and turkeys they meant to have, so by Thanksgiving day there were four hundred turkeys and thirty-six Pilgrim fathers less in the woods due to this extensive and intensive campaign for white meat.

Oh, the bliss of having four whole days of vacation without a thought of school to mar one minute of it. Most of the teachers were kind enough not to assign any lesson for Monday. I reckon we'll all agree that we needed three days to get over the effect of that Thanksgiving dinner.

I think we have all come back prepared for hard study. If we haven't we should have. It isn't too late yet. Semester exams are not very far off. Neither is Christmas vacation. But my advice to you is, think less of the vacation and more of your exams and you're bound to come out all right.

BRAINONIAN

PLAY CHOSEN

The play to be given for The Brainonian has been chosen as "Cousin Julia's Jade Ear Ring." It was picked from a host of others because of the unique way in which nerves, tears, heartbreaks, a touch of old chivalry and real humor are combined, all on account of a jade ear ring. The cast consists of eight characters, each one having about an equal part. There is no one that stands out especially ahead of the rest. In truth it will be an all star cast. Another thing which ought to be of interest to the public is that it is a football story. This play is to be presented in the high school gym on December 17. Last year's Brainonian play was a great success, as everyone knows, and this year's play is hoped to be even better.

Ray A.—"The aurora borealis were sure good last night."

Charlie B.—"I never heard of that station."

Does Nature Give Us Gasoline?

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that much of the misunderstanding of the petroleum industry, on the part of the public, may be charged to lack of information respecting this very point.

Nature does not give us crude oil, much less does she give us gasoline. She makes us pay for every barrel of crude we get in money, in time and laborious effort.

"Of the 18,500 wells drilled in the United States between January 1 and September 30 this year, more than 6,500 failed to find oil."

The drilling of these wells called for heavy investments of capital. The producers of crude oil pay enormous sums of money annually for machines, equipment, engines, boilers, motors, pumps, pipes, tools, cement, tile, brick and scores of other materials.

The cost of producing crude is great, and growing. It has been calculated "that in the producing branch alone over a half a billion dollars a year are spent in the effort to maintain the country's oil supply."

More than one-third of this tremendous investment is lost by reason of the wells failing to reach an oil strata. The other two-thirds represent producing wells.

When the oil is above ground, it must be handled and rehandled before it can reach your tank as gasoline.

First, it must be transported long distances through pipe lines.

Second, it must be stored in quantities sufficient to insure a steady supply for the refiners.

Third, it must be refined in plants that represent a total investment of hundreds of millions of dollars.

Fourth, it must be transported in special tank cars to point of distribution.

Fifth, it must be stored in bulk stations until called for by the consuming public, and,

Sixth, it must be hauled in tank wagons to service stations, garages, or to the tank of the ultimate consumer.

Each of these steps calls for large investments of money and heavy operating charges all of which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) furnishes that you may have your gasoline when and where you want it at a reasonable price.

No, nature does not give us gasoline!

BRAINONIAN
PLAY CHOSEN

The play to be given for The Brainonian has been chosen as "Cousin Julia's Jade Ear Ring." It was picked from a host of others because of the unique way in which nerves, tears, heartbreaks, a touch of old chivalry and real humor are combined, all on account of a jade ear ring. The cast consists of eight characters, each one having about an equal part. There is no one that stands out especially ahead of the rest. In truth it will be an all star cast. Another thing which ought to be of interest to the public is that it is a football story. This play is to be presented in the high school gym on December 17. Last year's Brainonian play was a great success, as everyone knows, and this year's play is hoped to be even better.

Ray A.—"The aurora borealis were sure good last night."
Charlie B.—"I never heard of that station."

Does Nature Give Us Gasoline?

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that much of the misunderstanding of the petroleum industry, on the part of the public, may be charged to lack of information respecting this very point.

Nature does not give us crude oil, much less does she give us gasoline. She makes us pay for every barrel of crude we get in money, in time and laborious effort.

"Of the 18,500 wells drilled in the United States between January 1 and September 30 this year, more than 6,500 failed to find oil."

The drilling of these wells called for heavy investments of capital. The producers of crude oil pay enormous sums of money annually for machines, equipment, engines, boilers, motors, pumps, pipes, tools, cement, tile, brick and scores of other materials.

The cost of producing crude is great, and growing. It has been calculated "that in the producing branch alone over a half a billion dollars a year are spent in the effort to maintain the country's oil supply."

More than one-third of this tremendous investment is lost by reason of the wells failing to reach an oil strata. The other two-thirds represent producing wells.

When the oil is above ground, it must be handled and rehandled before it can reach your tank as gasoline.

First, it must be transported long distances through pipe lines.

Second, it must be stored in quantities sufficient to insure a steady supply for the refiners.

Third, it must be refined in plants that represent a total investment of hundreds of millions of dollars.

Fourth, it must be transported in special tank cars to point of distribution.

Fifth, it must be stored in bulk stations until called for by the consuming public, and,

Sixth, it must be hauled in tank wagons to service stations, garages, or to the tank of the ultimate consumer.

Each of these steps calls for large investments of money and heavy operating charges all of which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) furnishes that you may have your gasoline when and where you want it at a reasonable price.

No, nature does not give us gasoline!

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL REARS ITS HEAD

COLLEGES ARE POWERLESS TO CHECK ITS RISE

COLLEGES, OF COURSE, ARE OPPOSED TO PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL

BUT THEY REALIZE THAT THEIR HANDS ARE TIED

By EDWARD C. DERR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Dec. 1. — Professional football has become so strong that the colleges and universities are powerless to check its advance, according to Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of Big Ten athletics. He predicted that the western conference athletic directors in their annual meeting here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, "will adopt no definite rules against pro football because there is nothing that we can do to stop it."

"We are opposed to professional football, of course," Griffith told the United Press in an interview, "but we realize that our hands are tied. About all we can do is to discourage it among the college players. If we could adopt some rules or resolutions that would curb it we'd probably do it, but I cannot see how that would be possible."

The question of professional football is certain to be one of the chief topics of discussion when the athletic directors and coaches get together, however, and it may be that lines will be tightened in an effort to keep football as a primary sport of the colleges.

"Our interest in discouraging professional football is purely selfish I'll admit," Griffith said. "We'd rather have the crowds come to our games and we'd rather have the gate receipts than to have the professional promoters get them."

"And we are justified for this reason—money that we take in goes back into the development of sports, into the building of gymnasiums, the purchase of equipment and the making of an opportunity for more boys to engage in athletics. The money that the professionals take in goes into the pockets of the players and managers."

Another interesting topic that is almost certain to be discussed by the coaches and athletic directors, is the matter of postponing games when weather conditions are detrimental to good games. Due to an unusually rainy autumn, several of the Big Ten football games this year were played on fields that resembled barnyards after a three-day downpour and the ball was so wet and slippery that the open style of play was virtually impossible.

Several of the coaches expressed a desire to investigate the possibility of postponing games under such conditions. An obstacle they will encounter, however, will be the fact that thousands of rooters frequently accompany a team on its important trips and a postponement would make it almost impossible for them to see the game if another trip were made necessary.

Playing rules are not expected to receive much attention at this year's meeting as there has been general satisfaction with the rules as revised last year.

Coaches and athletic directors from non-conference colleges have been invited to attend and some of them are expected to sign up Big Ten schools for interconference games next season.

A feature of this year's meeting will be the attendance of many high school coaches. An effort is to be made to discourage the recruiting of high school athletes to certain colleges before their prep school careers are ended.

THAT ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 1.—Stout-hearted experts, who are willing to take a chance on life and limb by venturing an opinion of the eleven best football players, will have to make a plea for mercy this season to that vast jury box which seats a couple of millions of rabid football fans.

In past years the ordinary fellow could get by fairly safe with his selection because Walter Camp's team was the only one considered as official and those who differed with the pioneer of All-American team picking were considered of such trivial importance as to be unworthy of recognition.

This year there will be no official team. The father of the idea is dead and there is no one with the prestige to step into his shoes. The expert who braves an opinion this year will have to prepare himself to hear—"You big fat-head, what right have you to pick a team? What do you know about football?"

If there were any one who knew everything about football and football players that there is to know, who had a set of radio-eyes that could see every play in every game on every field and who couldn't make a mistake, he would have a job like draining the ocean with a shoe horn to pick the best eleven from the eleven hundred great players that roamed the gridiron this year.

Coming from the Princeton-Yale game, one of those rabid fans, who happened to be from Princeton, was seated in a drawing room with several experts.

"Well," he said, opening the argument, "It ought to be easy to pick an All-American team now. Who's your first choice?"

"GRANGE," the experts snapped back in chorus.

"Who's next?"

"Oberlander," almost as emphatically.

"Next?"

"Tryon."

"Then whom?"

"Nevers."

With that there was a roar of indignation from the Princeton man that rattled the window panes.

"You fellows must be crazy," he roared. "Pickin' a fellow from the coast on nothing but propaganda. You've seen Jakey Slagle play a couple of times. What you going to do with him? Joe Predegast is as good as that Nevers and Grange hasn't much on Slagle. No wonder you guys get the berries."

It was fortunate for the safety of all present that the train arrived at its destination before the argument had passed from the backfield into the line selections because there were almost as many outstanding forwards as there were brilliant backs.

There are too many—"Whaddye goin' to do with" for comfort. If you pick Grange for quarter, Oberlander, Tryon and Slagle, what is going to be done with Benny Friedman, Cowboy Kutsch, Myles Lane, Nevers, Al Kreuz, Borelli, Zev Graham, Alquist, Parker, Allen, Wyckoff and others too numerous to mention.

CLAIM GRAIN RATES HIGHER THAN ON ORE

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 1.—(UP)—Grain rates are unjustly higher than transportation charges on ore for corresponding service, N. E. Williams, traffic expert for the Fargo Commercial club, charged today at the Interstate Commerce commission rate hearing.

Gross earnings of the Great Northern on 68,000 cars of wheat were $11,400,000 while gross earnings on 236,000 cars of ore for a similar haul were only $10,000,000, according to Williams. The reason given was that competition with the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern forced better service.

The Great Northern has in storage seven months of the year more than 10,000 ore cars, representing a great tie-up of equipment, he said. Williams also contrasted gross earnings of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern with Canadian roads to support his contention that increased rates on grain should not be granted.

of Brainerd

"I, Ransford R. Wise, residing at Brainerd, Crow Wing County, Minnesota, hereby make and publish this my last will and testament as follows:

I hereby revoke all wills and testaments by me heretofore made.

I give, devise and bequeath unto my nephew, Ransford R. Gould of Brainerd, Minnesota and my niece, Neata W. Gray of Brainerd, Minnesota all the property of every kind and nature of which I die seized or possessed, including my life insurance.

I nominate said Ransford R. Gould and Neata W. Gray as executors of this my will and direct that they be not required to give bond as such executors except to the extent required by law for protection of creditors.

(Signed RANSFORD R. WISE)"

Dated November 5th, 1923.

The petition for allowance and probate of the will lists the personal property of the estate at $27,000 which consists of household goods, $600; Capital stock, $5,000; Life insurance, $10,000; wearing apparel, $100; notes, bonds, etc., $6,800 and miscellaneous, $4,500. Real estate in Crow Wing county is estimated at $466,325 and real estate in Fargo, N. D. valued at $100,000, the entire estate being approximately $593,325.

The petition names the following heirs:

R. R. Gould, Brainerd, Minn., nephew.

Neata W. Gray, Brainerd, Minn., niece.

Reuben M. Wise, New York City, brother.

Frank M. Weisz, Phoenix, Ariz., brother.

The Christmas Seal

The sale of the Christmas seal was originated by a postal clerk in Denmark some twenty-two years ago while sorting Christmas packages in a small town in that country. In 1907 it was introduced in the United States by a nurse who sold Christmas seals to raise money for the fight against tuberculosis in Delaware. Since that time it has had a steady growth until it is now an important factor in the fight against the Great White Plague which causes more deaths during the most productive age of our citizens than any other disease.

For 2,500 years tuberculosis has taken away young people particularly when they should have been young and strong in the battle of life, causing untold grief and sorrow and costing the country millions of dollars in the death and incapacitating of our citizens at the most productive period of their lives.

The steady fight that has been made against tuberculosis, especially since 1919, has shown a very happy result, since the deaths from the cause has been almost out in half and at present has fallen into fourth place as a cause of death.

All citizens are interested in this fight, for tuberculosis is no respecter of person. It attacks people in all walks of life; rich, poor; doctors and all professions suffer alike. The writer has seen many sad examples of this in his own experience, only this year he has lost two personal friends, brilliant representatives of two of our leading professions, law and medicine.

Twenty years ago only five states were making any active fight against this disease. Today, all of our forty-eight states are working together in solid ranks to eradicate this scourge and some of the societies are entirely financed by the sale of the Christmas Seal. Only five per cent of the money spent goes to the National association for the prevention of tuberculosis. The other ninety-five per cent stays right here in Minnesota, so it behooves us all to buy the Christmas Seal stamp for in doing so we are paying a good insurance on our lives and the lives of posterity. So let one and all buy to our capacity as the fight against this disease means more to us than most anything in the way of saving our boys and girls from disease. No home is safe until all are safe.

MOOSE LODGE SETS HIGH GOAL

Anticipates Gaining Total of 700
Members in Membership
Campaign

TO INITIATE CLASS OF 100

Festivities Friday Evening to be Followed by Basket Social And Dance

Brainerd Lodge Loyal Order of Moose will have initiation of a large class Friday, December 4th at 7 o'clock in the evening. This will be followed by a basket social and dance commencing at 10 o'clock.

The Moose lodge has made rapid progress in its membership drive, having 100 new candidates. Marion Van Iken, district supervisor of the Loyal Order of Moose who is in charge of the membership drive predicts a membership of 700 members.

The Loyal Order of Moose is a fraternal benevolent and social organization, paying sick and accident benefits of $10 per week. Their dues are $14 per year. The lodge protects its members and his family and other dependents. The age limit is from 21 to 85 years. In case of death of the father, the family are sent to Mooseheart, where the children are given a high school education and vocational training, 28 different crafts and professions being taught.

Mooseheart is a city—not an orphan asylum. It has a population of 2,000 of which 1,260 are children of deceased members. Children there are given the advantage of the 100 per cent American standard of living. They live in cottages—not dormitories as is the general impression—each having its own kitchen, dining rooms and other home facilities. The children do not wear uniforms, but are taught to select their own clothing which, of course, is paid by the Mooseheart Regents. Every child has a bank account in the "Student's Bank" operated solely for their instruction and education. Corporal punishment is not tolerated at Mooseheart. The children are governed by the laws of the "Assembly," a self-governing body of which each student is a member, this body being guided by the superintendent.

In case of a mother dying, the children are cared for in Mooseheart by some other mother. Moosehaven is known as the city of opportunity where disabled Moose and their wives may spend their declining days in peace and happiness. They are given a cottage, clothes, groceries, medical attention and $10 per month pension and in case of death, they are given burial. In case of families who do not care to leave their own homes or may not be eligible because of contagious disease, the Extension Service which was started about a year ago takes care of them.

The Loyal Order of Moose is not a charitable institution. The members get what they pay for. The dues cannot be less than $10 per annum or more than $14. Mr. Van Iken will remain here several days longer and then go to Moosehaven for a short visit. He is well impressed with the city.

MOOSE LODGE SETS HIGH GOAL

Anticipates Gaining Total of 700 Members in Membership Campaign

TO INITIATE CLASS OF 100

Festivities Friday Evening to be Followed by Basket Social And Dance

Brainerd Lodge Loyal Order of Moose will have initiation of a large class Friday, December 4th at 7 o'clock in the evening. This will be followed by a basket social and dance commencing at 10 o'clock.

The Moose lodge has made rapid progress in its membership drive, having 100 new candidates. Marion Van Iken, district supervisor of the Loyal Order of Moose who is in charge of the membership drive predicts a membership of 700 members.

The Loyal Order of Moose is a fraternal benevolent and social organization, paying sick and accident benefits of $10 per week. Their dues are $14 per year. The lodge protects its members and his family and other dependents. The age limit is from 21 to 85 years. In case of death of the father, the family are sent to Mooseheart, where the children are given a high school education and vocational training, 28 different crafts and professions being taught.

Mooseheart is a city—not an orphan asylum. It has a population of 2,000 of which 1,260 are children of deceased members. Children there are given the advantage of the 100 per cent American standard of living. They live in cottages—not dormitories as is the general impression—each having its own kitchen, dining rooms and other home facilities. The children do not wear uniforms, but are taught to select their own clothing which, of course, is paid by the Mooseheart Regents. Every child has a bank account in the "Student's Bank" operated solely for their instruction and education. Corporal punishment is not tolerated at Mooseheart. The children are governed by the laws of the "Assembly," a self-governing body of which each student is a member, this body being guided by the superintendent. In case of a mother dying, the children are cared for in Mooseheart by some other mother.

Moosehaven is known as the city of opportunity where disabled Moose and their wives may spend their declining days in peace and happiness. They are given a cottage, clothes, groceries, medical attention and $10 per month pension and in case of death, they are given burial.

In case of families who do not care to leave their own homes or may not be eligible because of contagious disease, the Extension Service which was started about a year ago takes care of them.

The Loyal Order of Moose is not a charitable institution. The members get what they pay for. The dues cannot be less than $10 per annum or more than $14.

Mr. Van Iken will remain here several days longer and then go to Moosehaven for a short visit. He is well impressed with the city.

HEAVY DAYS TRADING

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—In the heaviest day's trading in six months, wheat prices soared to new highs for the present crop on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Reports of increasing demands from Europe induced a big flood of buying orders.

December wheat, old, gained 5 1/4 cents from the previous close, today's close being $1.68 1/2 a bushel. December, new, closed at $1.71, a gain of 4 1/4 cents.

May wheat, new, gained 5 cents, closing at $1.67 and May wheat, old, gained 4 1/4 cents at $1.64 1/4. July wheat gained 2 1/4 cents.

STOCK MARKET READJUSTS SELF
New York, Dec. 1.—Today's session gave additional evidence that the stock market was rapidly completing the readjustment of its technical position and was steadily breaking away from its recent nervousness over the credit situation. Some further attempts were made to offer prices down on a basis of five per cent call money and reports that the federal reserve bank of New York would advance its discount rate at Thursday's meeting.

But these reports were altogether unsuccessful in forcing liquidation. When buying activity was resumed operations for the rise attained considerable animation in many sections of the list during the afternoon.

U. S. Steel and American Can were the principal points of strength among the pivotal industrials. Motors gave indications of resuming their forward movement with Chandler, Pierce Arrow and Chrysler the best acting stocks. Rails derived upward impulse from the revival of consolidation plans with Kansas City Southern and other southwestern issues in the greatest demand.

The market closed irregular.

300 N. D. FARMERS
ATTEND LIVESTOCK
SHOW AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—Three hundred North Dakota farmers arrived on a special train today to attend the International Livestock exposition. Their appearance was significant because it was another sign of North Dakota's change from a "one-crop state."

The crown of the North Dakota wheat king is being tilted and supplanted by a wreath of alfalfa, corn silk, and sweet clover.

When North Dakota was exclusively a wheat growing state 30 years ago, James J. Hill, the railroad king, preached to the farmers of the state the necessity of diversified farming, and his answer was carried on the special train.

The 300 North Dakotans bore a challenge to the corn belt states that their long held monopoly of blue ribbons at International Livestock shows is in danger of weakening before the new northwest with its altered farm policy.

The special train was the first one of farmers that has been run into Chicago from the northwest since the world war and was declared to be a testimonial to the revival of prosperity that has put the northwest farmer back on his feet.

North Dakota, which still produces $100,000,000 worth of wheat annually, has added $25,000,000 yearly from its dairying and hog raising, the delegation pointed out.

HARTWELL FARWELL
DENIED A PAROLE

Waupun, Wis., Dec. 1.—(UP)—Hartwell Farwell, Windsor, Wis., convicted in 1922 for murder of Theophil Hosten and sentenced to seven years in state's prison was denied a parole here last night by the state board of public control.

Farwell's trial brought out that he had first murdered Hosten and then placed his body in a strawstack which he set fire to. Motive for the crime was given as Mosten's unwelcome attentions to Farwell's sister.

They had withdrawn it from a bank, fearing it would fail. County Assessor O. C. Bell has announced that he will collect back taxes against the hidden money.

"WORKER OF TODAY
ENJOYS HIGHEST
WAGE IN HISTORY"

Washington, Dec. 1.—(UP)—"The worker of today enjoys the highest wages ever paid in history, the shortest hours, the highest standard of living and the respect that is now paid to the man who works," Secretary of Labor Davis said in his annual report today.

"It has been a year of harmonious prosperity," said Davis. "With the exceptions of a few localities and special conditions prevailing in certain industries the volume of employment is greater than a year ago, the average increase being 7.4 per cent."

"The wage level in general has been raised an average per capita of 4.6 per cent; the building of homes in general continued on a large scale."

HARSHLY WITH ITS
HOLDUP BANDITS

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 1.—Winnipeg's holdup men are receiving severe penalties at the hands of court officials who are determined to stamp out the wave of robberies and sluggings that has been going on the last few months.

This morning Judge Fullerton sentenced William Ditchfield to the penitentiary for four years and ordered 20 lashes in addition. Ditchfield slugged Charles Steinmetz on a lonely road near the city and obtained $95.

Talent and a well developed desire to fill a real position in the drafting line, later opening into an unlimited field in engineering work?

Applicants must have had an eighth grade schooling, must be over twenty-one years old, and must now be employed in some regular work which need not necessarily be drafting. They will be furnished with instruments, drawing table, and projectograph. They will be expected to devote at least nine hours each week at home to preparation for their positions.

STOCK MARKET READJUSTS SELF

New York, Dec. 1.—Today's session gave additional evidence that the stock market was rapidly completing the readjustment of its technical position and was steadily breaking away from its recent nervousness over the credit situation. Some further attempts were made to offer prices down on a basis of five per cent call money and reports that the federal reserve bank of New York would advance its discount rate at Thursday's meeting.

But these reports were altogether unsuccessful in forcing liquidation. When buying activity was resumed operations for the rise attained considerable animation in many sections of the list during the afternoon.

U. S. Steel and American Can were the principal points of strength among the pivotal industrials. Motors gave indications of resuming their forward movement with Chandler, Pierce Arrow and Chrysler the best acting stocks. Rails derived upward impulse from the revival of consolidation plans with Kansas City Southern and other southwestern issues in the greatest demand.

The market closed irregular.

300 N. D. FARMERS
ATTEND LIVESTOCK
SHOW AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—Three hundred North Dakota farmers arrived on a special train today to attend the International Livestock exposition. Their appearance was significant because it was another sign of North Dakota's change from a "one-crop state."

The crown of the North Dakota wheat king is being tilted and supplanted by a wreath of alfalfa, corn silk, and sweet clover.

When North Dakota was exclusively a wheat growing state 30 years ago, James J. Hill, the railroad king, preached to the farmers of the state the necessity of diversified farming, and his answer was carried on the special train.

The 300 North Dakotans bore a challenge to the corn belt states that their long held monopoly of blue ribbons at International Livestock shows is in danger of weakening before the new northwest with its altered farm policy.

The special train was the first one of farmers that has been run into Chicago from the northwest since the world war and was declared to be a testimonial to the revival of prosperity that has put the northwest farmer back on his feet.

North Dakota, which still produces $100,000,000 worth of wheat annually, has added $25,000,000 yearly from its dairying and hog raising, the delegation pointed out.

Waupun, Wis., Dec. 1.—(UP)—Hartwell Farwell, Windsor, Wis., convicted in 1922 for murder of Theophil Hosten and sentenced to seven years in state's prison was denied a parole here last night by the state board of public control.

Farwell's trial brought out that he had first murdered Hosten and then placed his body in a strawstack which he set fire to. Motive for the crime was given as Mosten's unwelcome attentions to Farwell's sister.

HUNT FOR BURIED GOLD ON NEBRASKA FARM OF BROTHERS
MAY UNEARTH TREASURE OF $20,000 TO $60,000

Currency totalling $46,705 has been dug up on the farm of Charles and Theodore Strelow in Nebraska near Omaha. No gold has been found as yet, but it is believed that the brothers buried gold to the amount of possibly $60,000. Theodore died some time ago but Charles is still alive in an insane asylum. The brothers left Chicago in 1876 and buried the money soon after buying the farm. They had withdrawn it from a bank, fearing it would fail. County Assessor O. C. Bell has announced that he will collect back taxes against the hidden money.

"The wage level in general has been raised an average per capita of 6.6 per cent; the building of homes in general continued on a large scale."

ARMY ASSAILS CHARGES OF COL. MITCHELL

PRODUCING NAVY HEROES TO CONFOUND HIM

REP. REID CHALLENGES RIGHT OF MAJ.-GEN. GRAVES TO SIT ON JURY

CLAIMS HIS ACTIONS ON BOARD SHOW HE IS NOT IMPARTIAL

By WILLIAM J. McEVOY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 1. — The army today continued to assail the charges of Col. William Mitchell against the navy by producing navy heroes to confound him.

Lieut. Commander Richard E. Byrd, leader of the naval flyers of the MacMillan expedition, was brought to the court to defend the performance of the amphibian planes used in the polar regions last summer.

Commander Byrd is relied upon by army prosecutors to testify that the Loening amphibian planes performed efficiently in the ice area and to say that the curtailment of exploration by air was due to the bad weather conditions.

After a heated exchange of words in the court martial, Representative Frank Reid, Mitchell's lawyer today challenged the right of Major General William S. Graves, to sit further as a member of the jury of generals.

"I hereby challenge General Graves to sit longer as a member of this court," said Reid, "for the reason that his actions while on this court show that he is not impartial and that he has repeatedly interfered by his conduct with my examination of witnesses and that in justice and fairness to the accused, Gen. Graves should no longer be permitted to sit as a member of this court."

"I therefore, insist on my right to challenge him."

The court refused to accept Reid's challenge and announced that Graves would continue to sit as a member. Just before this outburst on Reid's part it became known that Brig. Gen. Edwin L. King's characterization of the cross examination of prosecution witnesses as "damn rot" had been reported to Secretary of War Davis. It was taken to Davis in compliance with regulations that require a report on the use of any improper language by members of a court martial.

The incident was thought to have been closed by the action of the court in expunging King's words from the record.

Reid grew angry and denounced Graves after the general had made a comment, which was not heard by those in the court room, to Col. Blanton Winship, law member of the court. At the time Reid was questioning the first witness of the day, Capt. F. W. Yarnell.

"You cannot lecture on my privileges," Graves shot back. "I have a right to object to cross examination when I want to. I do not acknowledge the right of Mr. Reid to lecture me. If what he had stated is going into the record I want it to show that he is incorrect."

The court went into executive session and Reid made the challenge when it returned.

Major General Robert L. Howse, court president, announced that Graves' remarks were intended to uphold the dignity of the court and another executive session was held to consider the challenge.

The new ill-feeling broke out after General Howse announced he had reported to Secretary of War Davis the incident of last Friday in which Brigadier General Edwin L. King characterized Reid's cross examination as "damn rot."

The action is required by military procedure, Howse said.

"The court announces that the challenge is not sustained," Howse said, when the court returned. "The member will continue to sit as a member of this court."

Graves sought to make a statement but Reid objected. Howse then ordered another secret session after which he announced that Graves had withdrawn his request to make a statement. Reid then resumed examination of Yarnell.

POLICE IN RECORD AS LIFE SAVERS, EXCELLING DOCTORS

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 1.—(UP)—After a physician, two assistants and a nurse had given up their fight to restore life to a newborn babe of Mrs. Christ Richter, two members of the police department emergency squad restored life after working 95 minutes with a lungmoter.

It is the first time in the history of Milwaukee that the squad has been called to act in an obstetrical case.

The child, a boy, stopped breathing a short time after it was born. Dr. Victor J. Taugher was called to the Richter home to officiate at the expected arrival. He was assisted by a nurse and two medical students.

They worked over the baby 50 minutes before calling the lungmoter squad.

FRANCE AGAIN TO NEGOTIATE ON ITS DEBTS

FINANCE MINISTER LOUCHEUR SO INFORMS AMERICAN AMBASSADOR

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Dec. 1.—France is moving rapidly toward resumption of debt funding negotiations with America. Finance Minister Loucheur today told United States Ambassador Herrick that these would be re-opened as soon as the French financial program is completed and supplemented this information later by an announcement that not only would settlements soon be attempted with England and America but a franc stabilization loan would be sought in England or the States.

These developments followed information that Henry Berenger is slated for appointment soon by the Briand cabinet to replace French Ambassador Daeschner at Washington—a significant step in view of Berenger's importance as a finance expert.

NO DANGER OF AMERICAN FARM BEING DEPOPULATED

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—There is no danger of the American farm becoming depopulated if representatives of more than 700,000 boys and girls attending the 26th annual International Livestock exposition here are to be taken as a criterion, show officials hold.

Approximately 12,000 boys and girls here make the claim that more than 86 per cent of the 700,000 will remain on the farm.

Fifteen thousand horse show fans forgot horses for a moment last night while they honored the young tillers of the soil.

The feature event of the evening—the single horse class—of the horse show, was won by Otto W. Lehmann's Princess Mary.

A Los Angeles entry, Nancy Highland, belonging to Miss Maude Fawn Banks won the honors in the three-gaited saddle horse class.

E. A. Stuart of Seattle, Wash., took first prize in the riding team class with Plume's Pride and Brilliant Nan.

SIX ALLEGED BOOTLEGGERS QUESTIONED

IN CONNECTION WITH FATAL SHOOTING AT WISCONSIN ROADHOUSE

NO INFORMATION GIVEN OUT BY AUTHORITIES ON PROBE MADE

Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., Dec. 1.—

Six men, said to be connected with bootlegging and moonshining activities in central Wisconsin were rounded up last night and questioned by Wood county authorities in connection with the fatal shooting here Friday night of Ray Davis and the wounding of William Bauer.

Although Sheriff C. W. Bluet, who is conducting the investigation assisted by R. S. Payne, chief of police here, has refused to give out any information regarding the progress of the probe, the calling of the six men is believed to indicate the trend of the investigation.

It was learned through county authorities that Davis on the day of the shooting had offered to sell a roadhouse proprietor a twenty-gallon jug of moonshine which he is said to have carried in his motor truck. This jug has not yet been found, although officials searched the truck and the roadhouse where the shooting took place.

The investigation took Sheriff C. W. Bluet, Wood county, and several deputies to Stevens Point today.

Reasons for the trip to Stevens Point were not given, although it was said the sheriff is attempting to learn the whereabouts of certain men on the night of the shooting.

Several men called in for questioning yesterday have been released. Although the Sheriff's office here today refused to give out much information regarding the outcome of the investigation thus far, they expressed confidence the slayers would be apprehended within a short time.

Bauer's condition was much improved. Authorities intimated he would be questioned again as soon as he gets stronger.

MIAMI'S FLOOD LEAVES TRAIL OF MUD AND DEBRIS

Miami, Fla., Dec. 1.—(UP)—Leaving behind a trail of mud and debris, Miami's flood which placed this famous winter resort under nearly two feet of water following a terrific rainstorm Sunday night receded today. The damage to Miami alone is expected to run into thousands. Lobbies of hotels and first floors of business houses were overrun with the high water and a careful check was under way to estimate the losses. Hialeah, a suburb of race tracks and other sporting attractions, also suffered considerably from suspension of business.

TROPICAL STORMS ROAR ALONG COAST

COMES IN THE WAKE OF CLOUD-BURST IN FLORIDA

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 1.—(UP)—A tropical gale roaring along in the wake of the most severe rainstorm in the history of the state, lashed the west coast of Florida during the night, causing heavy damage. Five were reported killed.

Meanwhile, on the east coast the cities of Miami and Palm Beach were recovering from the effects of a 14-inch rainfall which did considerable damage to these two famous winter resorts. Miami wallowed in two feet of water and alone suffered losses of $250,000.

Bright, warm sunshine in Miami and Palm Beach aided these two tourist cities in applying the broom and water hose to the mud and debris left by the flood.

But on the western coast the gale was the worst in recent years. Telegraph and telephone lines were torn down, leaving cities without communication with the outside world. Power plants went out and there were no lights and electricity to operate street cars.

By A. L. BRADFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent
Paris, Dec. 1.—The Briand government has decided to name Henry Berenger as successor to French Ambassador Daeschner at Washington. It was learned authoritatively today.

American Ambassador Herrick was told by Finance Minister Loucheur today that France intends to re-open negotiations for a debt settlement with America as soon as France's financial program is completed.

DRY LEADERS MEET TO FIGHT BEER REFERENDUM

MASSING FORCES ON PROPOSED WISCONSIN PLEBISCITE

SEEK LEGAL ACTION TO PREVENT MATTER PUT TO A VOTE

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 1.—

Dry leaders meet here today to lay battle plans for opening the court fight on the proposed Wisconsin beer referendum.

Headquarters committee of the Wisconsin Saloon League has been called into session for this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. to decide when court action will be brought to prevent Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman from certifying on the November election ballot next year the referendum on whether the voters want the Volstead act modified in favor of beer.

D. L. McBride, state superintendent of the League, declared today the "drys" are not going to cause any confusion by delaying the test case until just before it becomes the duty of the secretary of state to make up the ballots. He said the League is willing and anxious to have the issue submitted to the court within the near future.

In anticipation of the proceedings to prevent the secretary of state from certifying the referendum to the ballots, it was learned today the "wets" have prepared a brief and are ready to file it on short notice.

The referendum was provided for in a resolution adopted by the last legislature and the secretary of state will place it on the ballot unless the Anti-Saloon League wins a court decision on the point that the legislature blundered in not passing a bill instead of adopting a resolution.

According to McBride the headquarters committee will also discuss at length the strengthening of its law enforcement program under which the League is co-operating with federal and county officials.

CHRISTMAS LIQUOR BEGINS SEEPING INTO UNITED STATES

By JOSEPH S. WASNY
United Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, Dec. 1.—Christmas liquor began flowing into the United States from rum smugglers ships as the coast guard withdrew 12 cutters from the dry navy patrol for navigation protection work.

Under an executive order by President Coolidge the cutters gave up their work for law enforcement and took over the task of protecting maritime life and property. This necessary maneuver, however, left the dry navy in a crippled condition.

As soon as the cutters began steaming away to winter posts, rum row began to re-organize off the New England shore. Half a dozen foreign vessels laden with holiday booze supplies were reported anchored off shore between New York and Cape Cod.

Hastings, Minn.—Mrs. Emma J. Crouch and her two children were awarded damages amounting to $35,000 in their suit against the Chicago and Great Western railroad for the death of Harold Crouch, husband and father who was killed in the yards at St. Joseph, Mo.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 1.—(UP)—William Oxford, 8, was the sole survivor today of an automobile crash that resulted in the death of nine persons when their machine was struck by a Frisco lines passenger train near Achillon Station, Arkansas, late Monday.

The boy is in a critical condition. The train, going south at 50 miles an hour knocked the machine for a distance of 40 feet. Cotton pickers in a nearby field blame the driver of the machine for the crash.

The dead were: Clem Oxford, 33, and his four children; Lawrence Oxford, Clem's brother, and his wife and their two children.

J. F. REED, OF MINNESOTA FARM BUREAU, TESTIFIES AT HEARING

SAYS IT WILL BE USED TO COMBAT ANY HIGHER FREIGHT RATES

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—(UP)—A freight truck service will be established by northwest farmers if the railroads are allowed to increase rates, J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, told the Interstate Commerce commission representative hearing evidence on the application of 74 western roads for higher freight charges.

"If rates are increased, transportation by motor bus will be increased in the livestock business and shippers are now considering establishment of a freight truck service," said Reed. "This will, without a doubt, result in a decrease in traffic for railroads."

The hearing started here yesterday and will continue today at the state capitol. It is one of a series being held throughout the west. The first was in Chicago.

CHARGED WITH SUBORNATION OF PERJURY

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—(UP)—The trial of Frank King, charged with subornation of perjury, starts today. The jury was selected yesterday and testimony will be heard at once.

Harold G. Gadhols, whom King is charged with suborning to give untrue testimony in the trial of Ben and Abe Gleeman, will be among the first witnesses. He pleaded guilty to perjury in Judge Hanft's court Monday.

In the first trial of Ben and Abe Gleeman for the killing of Burton Stevens last February, Gadhols testified that they did the shooting. In the second trial he testified that two strangers fired the shots.

Gadhols did not tell the true story Monday when tried in Judge Hanft's court but is expected to relate the facts of the case when called to the stand today.

ON TRIAL ON CHARGE OF RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—John Sovetsky of Chicago went on trial here today charged with receiving $100,000 in stolen property, nearly all of it from Green Bay, Wis. Chicago police decided to prosecute Sovetsky here when Gov. Len Small refused extradition papers demanded by Wisconsin officials who wanted him tried in Green Bay.

Sovetsky is known to local authorities as "the million dollar fence." It is charged that thieves raided stores around Chicago and placed their loot with him.

Green Bay merchants have identified most of $100,000 worth of goods found in Sovetsky's garage as having been stolen from them.

STRIKEBREAKING NON-UNION GRAVE DIGGERS FILL PLACES

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—"Strike-breaking" non-union grave diggers have been put to work here and the strike of 250 members of the Cemetery Employees union has caused little delay in funerals so far.

The union workers want $6 per day and a half hour struck off their present working day.

LOCARNO PACTS SIGNED TODAY TO KEEP PEACE

STATESMEN OF 7 NATIONS ASSEMBLED AT ENGLISH FOREIGN OFFICE

SIGNING CONSTITUTED GREATEST VOLUNTARY PEACE MOVE IN THE OLD WORLD

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Dec. 1.—The Locarno European security pacts were signed today.

Statesmen of seven nations assembled in a reception room of the foreign office and affixed their names to a series of documents binding Western Europe to keep the peace. The signing ceremony constituted the greatest voluntary peace move in the history of the old world; marked the beginning of a new post war phase in the relations among the former warring nations and signaled the official re-entry of Germany into the European concert of nations after 11 years of absence.

The next step toward making peace instead of war reign in Europe is expected to be a disarmament conference, preparations for which are already being considered under League of Nations auspices.

Today's ceremony occurred within a reception hall unused for many years but polished and furnished anew for this historic gathering. An hour before the signing, throngs assembled in the vicinity of the foreign office to cheer the delegates but were driven off by the police. It was 11:21 A. M. when the signing of the security pact itself started. This took four minutes but the whole ceremony for all pacts required seventy-two minutes.

Once the great room had filled with statesmen and journalists of many nations, Sir Cecil Hurst, the foreign office's legal adviser, opened the proceedings with routine details as to credentials and as to slight textual changes in the original drafts.

Then Foreign Secretary Chamberlain—now Sir Austen by virtue of Knight of the Garter honors conferred upon him by the king for his Locarno achievements—proposed that the signing proceed.

The usual diplomatic custom of signing according to alphabetical order (in French) was followed. Thus Germany—"Allemagne"—in French—headed the list with Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy, Poland, Czechoslovakia, following.

The historic documents are to be deposited within the files of the League of Nations at Geneva, with any ratifications by parliaments of the affected lands.

Europe—the breeding ground of the world's worst wars—today for the first time in its history was given the order to start armistice.

Representatives of France, Germany, Italy, Great Britain and Belgium today signed the Locarno Pact, guaranteeing the sanctity of the blood drenched frontier between France and Germany along which the armies of Europe have clashed for 20 centuries.

By the terms of the treaty Germany, France and Belgium have agreed to submit disputes to the council of the League of Nations while Italy and Great Britain have agreed to fly to the defense of either side of the frontier actually threatened by an invading army.

In the eyes of the statesmen of Europe the signing of the Pact looms in importance far above its actual terms. They see in its psychological effect upon the people of Europe the effective lifting of the cloud of suspicion which has persisted since the great war and the advancement of the peaceful efforts of the League, of disarmament, and of the general cause of arbitration.

The terms of the Pact strike directly at the heart of the causes which bred the last war and which many have feared were foreshadowing another greater war to come.

The leading nations of Europe have definitely promised to cease aggression. Frenchmen and Germans have no longer cause to fear the artificial border which separates them. The inviolability of Germany's present western frontier is guaranteed. France, Belgium and Germany are bound not to attack each other. Britain and Italy have agreed to intervene against any aggressor, no matter whom.

Germany, Belgium and France have undertaken to try to settle peacefully all questions arising between them. This means that where the dispute has become too involved (Continued on Page 4)

He denied all charges in the executive's letter.

Attorney T. A. Prendergast of St. Paul represented the telephone company with City Attorney D. H. Fullerton appearing in behalf of the city and Michael Mareca, secretary-treasurer of St. Colombo Company representing that rural company.

Mr. Hawitt explained the petition seeks to increase regular rural rates from $1.75 to $2.00 net, making an increase of 25c and for those who receive service from the so-called mutual or lines owned by farmers, there would be no increase in the net rate, but a penalty would be added if the rental was not paid promptly.

The following will show the new rate proposed and the rate now effective:

Two-party line, bus. 4.00-a 3.00

(a) A discount of 25 cents is allowed from this rate each month in which the subscriber's entire account, including any balance due, is paid on or before the 15th day of that month.

(b) Payable annually in advance A discount of $1.00 is allowed from this annual charge if paid within the first month of the 12 months for which the bill is rendered.

The first witness called in behalf of the company was H. A. Livermore, statistician who produced figures showing total revenue for the year 1924 of the Brainerd Exchange to be $45,126.46 and total telephone operating expenses and deduction from income, $45,251.92, showing a deficit of $125.46. Other witnesses called in behalf of the company were I. G. Carl, division manager and C. L. Swancutt, appraisal engineer.

The meeting will probably be adjourned until tomorrow morning owing to the postponement this morning.

"Are you Sam Kirby's girl?" Miller inquired. When Roulette nodded he removed his hat, then he extended his hand. "Shake," said he. "Now I've got you. You've had a hard time, haven't you? We heard about Sam and we thought you was dead. Step in here and set down." He motioned to the tiny little office which was curtained off from general view.

Roulette declined with a smile. "I really want work as a dealer. That's the only thing I can do well. I came here first because you have a good reputation."

"Kirby's kid don't have to deal nothing. She's good for any kind of a stake on his name."

"Dad would be glad to hear that. He was a—great man. He ran straight." Roulette's eyes had become misty at Miller's indirect tribute to her father; nevertheless, she summoned a smile and went on: "He never borrowed, and neither will I. If you can't put me to work I'll try somewhere else."

"How did you get down from White Horse?" Miller inquired, curiously.

"Poleon Doret brought me."

"I know Doret. He's ace."

"Can you really deal?" Best broke in.

"Come I'll prove that I can." Roulette started for the gambling-room and the two men followed. Best spoke to his partner in a low voice: "Say, Ben, if she can make a half-way bluff at it she'll be a big card. Think of the play she'll get."

But Miller was dubious. "She's nothing but a kid," he protested. "A dealer has got to have experience, and, besides, she ain't the kind that belongs in a dump. Somebody'd get fresh and—I'd have to bust him."

There was little activity around the tables at this hour of the day; the occupants of the gambling-room were, for the most part, house employees who were waiting for business to begin. The majority of these employees were gathered about the faro layout, where the cards were being run in a perfunctory manner to an accompaniment of gossip and reminiscence. The sight of Ben Miller in company with a girl evoked some wonder. This wonder increased to amazement when Miller ordered the dealer out of his seat; it became open-mouthed when the girl took his place, then broke a new deck of cards, deftly shuffled them, and slipped them into the box. At this procedure the languid lookout, who had been comfortably resting upon his spine, uncured his legs, hoisted himself into an attitude of attention, and leaned forward with a startled expression upon his face.

The gamblers crowded closer, exchanging expectant glances; Ben Miller and Morris Best helped themselves to chips and began to play. These were queer doings; the case-hardened onlookers prepared to enjoy a mildly entertaining treat. Soon grins began to appear; the men murmured, they nudged one another, they slapped one another on the back, for what they saw astonished and delighted them. The girl dealt swiftly, surely; she handled the paraphernalia of the faro-table with the careless familiarity of long practice, but stranger still, she maintained a poise, a certain reserve and feminine dignity which were totally incongruous.

When, during a pause, she absently shuffled a stack of chips, the Mocha Kid permitted his feelings to get the better of him. "Hang me for a horse-thief," he snickered. "Will you look at that?" Now the Mocha Kid was a ribald character, profanity was a part of him, and blasphemy embellished his casual speech. The mildness of his exclamation showed that he was deeply moved. He continued in the same admiring undertone. "I seen a dame once that could deal a bank, but she couldn't pay and take. This gal can size up a stack with her eyes shut!"

Nothing could have more deeply intrigued the attention of these men than the sight of a modest, quiet, well-behaved young woman exhibiting all the technique of a finished faro-dealer. It was contrary to their experience, to their ideas of fitness. Mastery of the gaming-table requires years of practice to acquire, and not one of these professionals but was as proud of his own dexterity as a fine pianist; to behold a mere girl possessed of all the knacks and tricks and mannerisms of the craft excited their keenest risibilities. In order the more thoroughly to test her skill several of them bought stacks of chips and began to play in earnest; they played their bets open, they coppered, they split, they strung them, and at the finish they called the turn. Roulette paid and took; she measured stacks of counters with unfailing facility, she overlooked no bets. She ran out the cards, upset the box, and began to re-shuffle the cards.

Big Lars stubbornly backed his luck, but the bank continued to win, and meanwhile new arrivals dropped in. Two, three hours the play went on, by which time all Dawson knew that a big game was running and that a girl was in the dealer's chair. Few of the visitors got close enough to verify the intelligence without receiving a sotto voce warning that rough talk was taboo—Miller's ungodly clan saw to that—and on the whole the warning was respected. Once only was it disregarded; then a heavy loser breathed a thoughtless oath. Disapproval was marked, punishment was condign; the look-out leisurely descended from his eyrie and floored the offender with a blow from his fist.

REVIVAL MEETINGS

To Continue All This Week at The Full Gospel Assembly, Just Across The Hill

Yielding to the demands of the crowds, Evangelist F. Webster Tyler of New York has postponed the opening of campaign in Minneapolis and has consented to remain in Brainerd another week. Service every night at 7:45 sharp.

The evangelist preached two powerful sermons on Sunday to large audiences. In the afternoon his subject was: "Christian Service in the Light of the Cross" or "Life Through Death." More than a score of young people consecrated their lives to the Lord for service—whatever, whenever, wherever.

In the evening, Rev. Tyler spoke from his life text found in Philippians the third chapter and tenth verse: "That I may know him and the power of his resurrection and the fellowship of his sufferings being made conformable unto his death."

By way of introduction, the evangelist told his hearers that he could trace his ancestry back to several of the royal families of Europe and that John Alden and Priscilla Mullins who came over in the Mayflower were, his eighth great grandfather and grandmother and hundreds of his relatives fought in the Revolutionary war, "but, he cried, I count all these things but loss for the transcendent preciousness of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord for whom I have suffered the loss of all things and do count them but refuse."

At the close, in response to the evangelist's appeal a large number sought the Lord at the altar. Tonight Mr. Tyler will preach on the subject: "Jesus Christ the same Yesterday, and Today and Forever."

All the people of Brainerd are most cordially invited to all services.

BODY OF MINISTER FOUND DEAD IN ROOMING HOUSE

Minneapolis, Dec. 1.—(UP)—The body of the Rev. Knute B. Birkeland, missing since early last week, was found today in a rooming house here. No marks of violence were found and the cause of death is unknown. Birkeland was last seen Tuesday when he appeared in court while a jury was chosen to try his suit against a Minneapolis attorney for $5,000, the outgrowth of stock transaction. The former minister's family expressed fear of foul play since Birkeland first disappeared. The defendant in his suit charged Birkeland with hiding purposely to make the trial impossible.

Taxicabs are not built to take care of such a Madame Irene so she uses a truck instead. This photograph shows her being hoisted from the truck at the stage entrance of a New York theatre.

"KEEP HIGHWAYS GREEN" SLOGAN

County Commissioners in Movement to Preserve Timber Along Roads

ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

President is Walter M. Murphy, Secretary E. G. Roth

The county commissioners, realizing that the new process for the making of pulp is tending to rapidly deplete our jack pine forests, and by so doing, robbing our highways of their scenic beauty, ask that something be done to preserve them. Nothing is more beautiful than to drive along one of our Crow Wing county roads through green jack pine, birch, white pine and Norway trees. It is our beautiful highways that attract the tourists as much as our beautiful lakes. When you realize that a tourist leaving from an Iowa or a Missouri town, or any point north of there, does not strike a shady drive until he reaches Brainerd, you know the sight appeals to his imagination and makes him come again and again.

The commissioners realizing this and being far-sighted, asked that an organization be formed to form sentiment throughout the county and our north country, to preserve a strip of timber along our highways. There is no law requiring any owner, on a land adjacent to the highways, to preserve such a strip and no such law is desired. Yet, the desire is to have these owners take a pride in keeping a beautiful strip of timber along the main highways.

Acting under this request, a group of Crow Wing county citizens met at the court house on November 21st to form the nucleus of an organization which has for its object the preserving of the natural beauties of our roads and lakes. Literature is to be published and given out, showing the advantage of keeping our highways and lake shores well timbered. No name has as yet been designated for the association.

A prize of $10 in gold is being offered by the association to anyone sending a name to the secretary of the association that will be adopted as its permanent name. All names must be submitted by January 1st, 1926. If more than one name is submitted of the one chosen, the one that is first received will receive the prize.

The following officers were elected for the association: President, Walter M. Murphy, Brainerd, and Secretary, E. G. Roth, Brainerd.

"I decline to say," answered Senator Sorghum. "People in Europe used to say they couldn't understand American politics. I now consider it my privilege to admit that I can't understand European politics."

FLAT REJECTION OF GOV. PINCHOT'S PEACE PROPOSAL

INDEFINITE PROLONGATION OF ANTHRACITE STRIKE NOW PREDICTED

OPERATORS COMMITTEE SEEKS LONG TERM WORKING AGREEMENT

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—(UP)—With the flat rejection of Gov. Pinchot's proposals for suspension of the anthracite strike by the operators' committee yesterday, indefinite prolongation of the coal strike was predicted by coal men here today. "The mine operators seek, in settlement of the present suspension some form of long term working agreement," Major W. W. Inglis, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, said in explaining the operators' rejection of the Pinchot plan of settlement.

"That will enable them to reasonably guarantee a supply of anthracite at a fair price to their customers for some time to come. It is the desire of the operators to sell their coal, not to dispute continually with their labor."

In rejecting the proposals of Gov. Pinchot which provide a modified check-off and a board of investigation and award who had no power to reduce wages during the term of the Pinchot agreement, the operators expressed belief that "only on the ground of misunderstanding could the governor have submitted 'proposals that so completely fail to meet the necessities of the situation.'"

Oldtime Purse

From the wearing of the pouch at the side, in the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries, we trace the origin of the poke, or pocket, where, according to Shakespeare, it was customary to carry one's dial. Henry VIII of England carried a purse of red satin embroidered in gold, and under Catherine de Medici perfumed leather purses became the rage and cost at the time as much as $30 apiece.

WE NEED WATERWAY IMPROVEMENTS

THE interior of the United States, that is the country bordering the Mississippi river, has been termed the inland empire. But it is an empire no longer. Without adequate waterways, the Mississippi and St. Lawrence, this inland domain pays a high tribute in freight rates, and no relief seems in sight.

The inland empire threw no monkey wrenches in the Panama canal improvement. The Panama canal brought in its train an increase in coastwise shipping and consequently Washington, Oregon, California on the west coast and New York and New England states and southward including Florida have flourished. They get their lumber from the west coast cheaper than we can ever hope to get it in Brainerd.

We need the Mississippi restored and so improved that shipping can be carried on from the twin cities to New Orleans. We need the St. Lawrence waterway so that Duluth will be made an ocean port and Brainerd will then be but a mere hundred miles from such a port. Building the St. Lawrence waterway will so increase freight business out of Duluth that the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific will have to be double-tracked. More freight trains means more repair work at our N. P. shops.

The middle west helped to put the Panama canal through and now in turn the rest of the United States should help this section improve the Mississippi and St. Lawrence.

Governor Christianson, speaking at St. Louis in the interest of the Mississippi improvement for navigation said that forty million men and women who occupy a territory 10 times as large as France, who raise 75 per cent of the nation's wheat, and 65 per cent of its corn, who mine 85 per cent of its iron and 39 per cent of its copper, will not much longer submit to the handicap of being economically isolated.

Ten thousand miles of coastline, making the heart of the continent to border on the sea, can be made available to the middle-west through improvement of waterways at a cost less than the Panama canal.

Agriculture which has been suffering distress from which it now only partly is emerging, would be greatly benefitted, since a contributing factor to agricultural depression has been excessive transportation cost.

As stated by President Reed of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, grain will then be shipped without breaking cargo and at a great saving in freight. Mr. Reed figured as high as seven cents will be saved on every bushel raised in the middle-west.

THE BANDIT PEST

EVERY day you read of bandits doing their work in Minnesota. The twin cities seem to harbor most of these unwelcome guests. Filling stations, jewelry stores, grocery stores, weekly pay rolls of factories, seem to be easy prey for these men of the underworld.

Outside of the twin cities, a few counties have organized ranger associations to cope with bank bandits.

Illinois is having such a dose of bandits that the Chicago Tribune says America is once more on the frontier, for on the frontier there is no law. Instead there are notices of rewards for bandits, dead or alive, preferably dead, and the law is a primitive thing left to vigilantes and six shooters. America has come to this pass.

Head hunting is on in earnest. "The six bandits who shot Policeman Patrick O'Shea and escaped with $57,760 belonging to the Drovers National bank are worth $2,000 apiece to the person or persons who capture them alive. They are worth $3,500 apiece to the person or persons who can deliver them dead."

"The Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association offers a reward of $2,500 for each dead bandit, with the remark that it is a cold blooded business to place a price on human life, but that the necessity of protecting the lives of their members, their employees, their patrons, and the money entrusted to them demands it."

"Cass county, Ill., bankers have raised the reward for a dead bandit from $1,000 to $2,000. The Illinois legislature is expected to pass a bill setting aside $50,000 to be paid out in bounty, $1,000 each time a bandit is killed. The Chicago Jewelers' association has a standing offer of $2,000 apiece for bandits slain robbing a jewelry store."

"Illinois is not alone in its return to the methods of the vigilance committee. In Milwaukee the Clearing House association offers $2,500 for a dead bandit and only $1,000 for one taken alive. Beloit, Wis., offers $1,000 for a bandit killed robbing a bank. Porter county, Ind., bankers post a similar bounty, as do those of St. Joseph county."

"The ordinary course of law enforcement has broken down. America, at least in the middle west, has no more law than did the frontier and has been driven to frontier methods."

WHAT HAPPENS TO THE OLD MOVIE PICTURES?

We have often wondered what became of the old moving pictures and have at last partially solved the mystery. We remember the first ones we saw, and they were merely scenes, no plots, the most familiar being bathers jumping from a dock, and to add excitement, the reel was reversed and all the bathers popped back on the planks. The first scenarios were hodgepodge affairs, very short at that—for instance, a boy smoking his first cigar, a trained horse eating a woman's hat and such stuff.

Motion Pictures magazine of current issue, referring to the various Hollywood parties by screen stars, mentions that entertaining at the Talmadge's houses is always informal, even at formal dinner parties. Norma is quite likely to jump up, and get something she needs on the sideboard without ringing for the servants, and Buster Keaton, who was a vaudeville acrobat, often rolls up the rugs in the drawing room afterwards, and turns flip-uaps and takes comedy falls.

"The Talmadge girls have the largest collection of ancient films in existence, and when they want to give their guests a good laugh, they have one of these antiques thrown on the screen in their private projection room." So that's where some of the old-time films have found a haven of refuge.

THE Aitkin County Game Protective League will hold a banquet and social hour at the Aitkin Odd Fellow hall on December 10.

HENNEPIN county has 181,000 motor vehicles.

The GOLDEN RULE in PRACTICE

A series of articles by prominent leaders on the Golden Rule as a guide in international relations.

BEST EXPRESSION OF FRIENDSHIP

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

The reports of the observance of International Golden Rule Sunday last year in fifty countries, and its far-reaching results in training orphans in the Near East, have been of great interest to me. This expression of brotherhood inevitably has a beneficial influence upon those who give as well as those who receive.

As practical help is the best expression of friendship, I feel that the aid which America may give out of its prosperity to those impoverished by war may be of the utmost value in the promotion of international good will. The consistent observance of Golden Rule Sunday cannot but help to bring about the application of the Golden Rule to the misunderstandings of nations and individuals.

I earnestly hope that the voluntary observance of this day may become increasingly prevalent in the homes of America and throughout the world.

That rule of ethical guidance which we designate as the Golden Rule is common to all great systems of religion and to the entire philosophy of human relationship.

It is a rule worthy of all acceptance, and to be translated into the terms of relationships among communities and peoples, among races and nations. Those among us who are required to give consideration to the difficult and complicated relations between the great communities of the world; those whose concern is for the maintenance of peace, of mutual helpfulness and generous cooperation among the nations, will do well to keep always in the front of our thoughts this simple precept.

America is ready today, as always, to do its full share. It wants the peace of good will and of the Golden Rule; not the peace of force imposed by those who have power. It does not want peace as an interlude of brightness here and there in a world still addicted to war. It wants peace as the normal, the assured estate in a world from which a wiser generation shall have forever outlawed aggressive war.

Golden Rule Sunday will be observed throughout the United States in December, on behalf of the Near East Relief. This series of articles, by prominent public men who are supporters and spokesmen for this great philanthropy, is designed to call public attention to the background and purpose of the work and its need for general support.

EUROPE, FIRST TIME IN HISTORY, STACKS ARMS

It shall be submitted to the council of the league of nations for decision. The contracting parties have undertaken to act in accordance with the council's decision.

The Pact will come into force as soon as Germany becomes a full-fledged member of the League of Nations. With no obstacles standing in the way this is expected to occur about the middle of this month.

Eastern Europe—hot-bed of plot and counter-plot—also comes under the peaceful influence of the Pact. The signatures appended today mean that an arbitration treaty between Germany and Poland probably will be consummated.

Similarly treaties of arbitration have been reached between France and Poland, and France and Czechoslovakia whereby France guarantees to protect these respective countries against possible violation by Germany of the arbitration treaties which Poland and Czechoslovakia will arrange with her.

COOLIDGE TAKES NOTICE OF PACT

Washington, Dec. 1. — President Coolidge took cognizance of the signing of the Locarno Pacts in London today and reiterated his belief that the instruments were a means for peace and beneficial to all concerned.

MUSIC NEWS

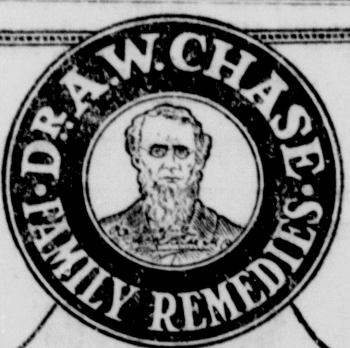

About the biggest news is the wonderful reception given the new ORTHOPHONIC VICTROLA, of our store. Everybody's talking about it, and with good reason, for not in a decade has there been an instrument for its reproduction of tone to even compare with it. And the price is a matter of surprise for many said they expected it to be $400 or $500, instead of only $275 for largest type. The only thing that worries us is, can the factory supply the demand? Place your orders now if you want one for Christmas.

Sold our last Grebe Synchronphase Saturday. Expect more in this morning by express. Just received some new Sonora receivers, which for selectivity and volume are very hard to beat. Any one desiring a good radio would do well to come in and investigate this wonderful Sonora which is put out by the Sonora Phonograph Company, also the maker of the famous Sonora Loud Speaker. We have a good selection of Music Masters on hand, ranging in price from $60 to $450.

We have most of our Christmas stock in the way of Banjos, Guitars, Ukeleles and other stringed instruments, as well as a nice line of Accordions and Harmonicas, German make.

Have a good supply of peppy new Victrola records. Also new player rolls and sheet music.

B. H. S. WINS FIRST BASKETBALL
GAME OF THE SEASON, 14 TO 5

Brainerd high opened the basketball season last Wednesday, defeating Pequot high, 14 to 5. The game started out well, Brainerd getting two baskets in the first two minutes of play. The Pequot team was in good condition, but lacked teamwork. The score at the end of the first quarter was Brainerd 6, Pequot 1. By two more free throws Pequot raised its count to 3 while Brainerd got two more baskets. The first half ended Brainerd 10, Pequot 3. On both teams the second half came back faster, but no score was made till toward the end of the third quarter when Brainerd got a field goal. In the last quarter no score was made until the last minute of play when Pequot got their first field goal, the game ending Brainerd 14, Pequot 5.

In a preliminary, the Coal Heavers defeated the Rainbows, 14 to 8 in a fast, well-played game.

Some of the Coal Heavers will be eligible to play the second semester, which will somewhat strengthen the team.

The line-up for Wednesday's game was as follows:

Pequot	Brainerd
Nee	r.f. Marshall
Tund	l.f. Avery
Gutz	c. Whitlock
Wagner	r.g. Lawrenz
King	l.g. Tribur

Substitutes—Eckholm for Avery; Gile for Lawrenz.

THE FAITHFUL
FEW ON HAND

The Junior president came through the Junior rooms last Monday with beseeching eyes, asking the stalwart boys of our class to use their manly strength in the useful labor of moving the bleachers in the gym into a different formation.

The boys could not refuse our president (very few boys can) so they turned out a hundred per cent strong, fully five boys being on hand who together with boys of other classes managed to do the work.

Of course we know that all of the rest of the boys had other work or something more important to do, so please don't think any sarcasm is meant, but anyhow the bleachers were moved by the faithful few plus of course, Mr. Beresford.

The faithful few who stayed until the last plank reposed upon the supports were more than appreciated by Miss Tornstrom and Mr. Cobb, who thought to themselves, "Of such are the best citizens of tomorrow."

IMPORTANT SENIOR
MEETING TUESDAY

Tuesday night after school, the Seniors held a meeting for the purpose of choosing class colors, motto and flower. They also decided that Mr. Gorham of the Ten Thousand Lakes Studio, was to be given the contract for class pictures.

The colors that secured most popular approval were Purple and Gold. Violets were chosen as class flowers and the class feels that this will make a pleasing combination.

The matter of choosing the motto was a trifle harder. Several were submitted and after a great deal of argument—Aut inveniam viam aut faciam which is, translated, "Either find a path or make one," was found to be most appropriate.

The matter of having a Christmas banquet was also taken up and this met with unanimous approval.

PUTZ IS FOOTBALL
CAPTAIN FOR 1926

A football meeting was held last Tuesday for the purpose of electing a captain for next year. Russel Putz, the man chosen, received nearly every vote cast. Putz, as almost everybody knows, is a star player and just the man to pilot next year's team to victory. He is liked very much by his teammates and we all wish him and his team success next year.

THE BURGER COLUMN

By HAM and LIM

After Jessie had been at a boarding school a couple of weeks, she began signing all her letters home, Jessica.

Brother Tom replied: Dear Jessica, Dadica and Monica have gone to visit Aunt Lizzica. Uncle Samica is talking of buying a new machine, but he doesn't know whether to get a Fordica or Chevicca. The old cowica has had a calfica. I was going to call it Nellica but I changed it to Jimica because it was a bullica. Your affectionate brother, Tomica.

Dear Ma:

Ge. I wish you were here. Oh, but school is great. The teachers go away on vacations and we have a lot of fun. We have a big room called "assembly" where we go when we haven't anything to do. A teacher writes down on a piece of cardboard your name and then she takes a book and walks around like pa when he gets a heart attack. When it's time to go they ring a bell, and then for fear the pupils forget to come she rings another bell, and we all dash out, except some big guys with new shoes on.

Say, Ma, the kids don't wear garters any more, cause its what they call "Colegate," so I'm sending mine up to pa.

The kids around here are kinda stuck up but that don't bother me none.

MIYOTO BIOGRAPHY

The summer after I was a Sophomore, my pal Henry Nolan and I undertook a bumbling trip to unknown ports. We were each equipped with a knapsack and carried a small puppet and other necessities. Our mode of travel consisted of hailing every car that passed us for a "lift" and in this manner we saw all Eastern Minnesota. Our itinerary included Itasca Park, Bemidji, the range towns, Superior National Forest, Canada, then south to Duluth and Minneapolis, and home. It took us three weeks and we covered a distance of one thousand miles, of which we walked about twenty.

Sometimes we stopped overnight at lumber camps buried in virgin forests, where deer and moose would stand along the road and gaze at a chance passerby. Once we slept in the middle of a cemetery, another time in a bandstand in the middle of a city, again in the stables of a fair grounds. We moved from place to place in Fords, Packards, Chevrolts, Rolls Royces, freight trains and horse-drawn wagons. It was a real adventure.

So far I have not said anything of my musical ambitions. I started to take piano lessons when I was nine years old and have had Prof. Bartsch, Mr. Palmer and Mr. Pflock as teachers. During the last two years, I have been in the high school orchestra.

I WANT SOME MORE

A grueling tale of absent vittles and empty tummies, the Mayflower compact and Easter lilies as told by an absent member of the American Union of animated can openers.

In the governor's house in Boston the caretaker of the great seal of the state of Massachusetts was cleaning the nut shells out of the said seal in preparation for the time, but a day away now, when it was to be formally affixed to the governor's proclamation of Thanksgiving.

Outside the streets of Boston were thronged with the merry crowd. Boston in those days was a large city having a Sunday population of about twelve to each family. They all stayed home, too—the Florida land boom was nothing in their lives, and N'Yawk was a little town containing Peter Stuyvesant, two saloons, and 20 people.

Still further outside the woods were filled with eager Puritans, who ever and anon would boom away with their amateur cannons at some unsuspecting but necessary portion of a Thanksgiving dinner. They were out to get turkeys and turkeys they meant to have, so by Thanksgiving day there were four hundred turkeys and thirty-six Pilgrim fathers less in the woods due to this extensive and intensive campaign for white meat.

New boy seeing a swell girl at the foot of the stairs, "Say, is this the way up stairs?"

Thanksgiving Vacation

Oh, the bliss of having four whole days of vacation without a thought of school to mar one minute of it. Most of the teachers were kind enough not to assign any lesson for Monday. I reckon we'll all agree that we needed three days to get over the effect of that Thanksgiving dinner.

I think we have all come back prepared for hard study. If we haven't, we should have. It isn't too late yet. Semester exams are not very far off. Neither is Christmas vacation. But my advice to you is, think less of the vacation and more of your exams and you're bound to come out all right.

"NEW BROOMS" IS
JUNIOR BENEFIT

The Juniors have started their campaign of selling tickets for their benefit movie to be given Thursday, December 10.

"New Brooms" is to be the play, with Bessie Love, Neil Hamilton and Phyllis Haver in the cast. The plot of the play deals with a peppy, unthinking boy, just returned from college. It is effective and amusing and is a new picture which everyone will enjoy.

The high school orchestra will supply music while a two act Junior vaudeville will amuse everyone.

The Juniors aim to "sweep-clean" in the selling of their tickets for their movie, "New Brooms." Tickets sold at the box office will not benefit the Junior class so we are urging the people to purchase their tickets from the high school students. The tickets are only 35c, which will admit one adult or two children.

Don't forget "New Brooms" Thursday, December 10.

BRAINONIAN
PLAY CHOSEN

The play to be given for The Brainonian has been chosen as "Cousin Julia's Jade Ear Ring." It was picked from a host of others because of the unique way in which nerves, tears, heartbreaks, a touch of old chivalry and real humor are combined, all on account of a jade ear ring. The cast consists of eight characters, each one having about an equal part. There is no one that stands out especially ahead of the rest. In truth it will be an all star cast. Another thing which ought to be of interest to the public is that it is a football story. This play is to be presented in the high school gym on December 17. Last year's Brainonian play was a great success, as everyone knows, and this year's play is hoped to be even better.

Ray A.—"The aurora borealis were sure good last night."
Charlie B.—"I never heard of that station."

Does Nature Give Us Gasoline?

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that much of the misunderstanding of the petroleum industry, on the part of the public, may be charged to lack of information respecting this very point.

Nature does not give us crude oil, much less does she give us gasoline. She makes us pay for every barrel of crude we get in money, in time and laborious effort.

"Of the 18,500 wells drilled in the United States between January 1 and September 30 this year, more than 6,500 failed to find oil."

The drilling of these wells called for heavy investments of capital. The producers of crude oil pay enormous sums of money annually for machines, equipment, engines, boilers, motors, pumps, pipes, tools, cement, tile, brick and scores of other materials.

The cost of producing crude is great, and growing. It has been calculated "that in the producing branch alone over a half a billion dollars a year are spent in the effort to maintain the country's oil supply."

More than one-third of this tremendous investment is lost by reason of the wells failing to reach an oil strata. The other two-thirds represent producing wells.

When the oil is above ground, it must be handled and rehandled before it can reach your tank as gasoline.

First, it must be transported long distances through pipe lines.

Second, it must be stored in quantities sufficient to insure a steady supply for the refiners.

Third, it must be refined in plants that represent a total investment of hundreds of millions of dollars.

Fourth, it must be transported in special tank cars to point of distribution.

Fifth, it must be stored in bulk stations until called for by the consuming public, and,

Sixth, it must be hauled in tank wagons to service stations, garages, or to the tank of the ultimate consumer.

Each of these steps calls for large investments of money and heavy operating charges all of which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) furnishes that you may have your gasoline when and where you want it at a reasonable price.

No, nature does not give us gasoline!

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL REARS ITS HEAD

COLLEGES ARE POWERLESS TO CHECK ITS RISE

COLLEGES, OF COURSE, ARE OPPOSED TO PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL

BUT THEY REALIZE THAT THEIR HANDS ARE TIED

By EDWARD C. DERR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Dec. 1.—Professional football has become so strong that the colleges and universities are powerless to check its advance, according to Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of Big Ten athletics. He predicted that the western conference athletic directors in their annual meeting here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, "will adopt no definite rules against pro football because there is nothing that we can do to stop it."

"We are opposed to professional football, of course," Griffith told the United Press in an interview, "but we realize that our hands are tied. About all we can do is to discourage it among the college players. If we could adopt some rules or resolutions that would curb it we'd probably do it, but I cannot see how that would be possible."

The question of professional football is certain to be one of the chief topics of discussion when the athletic directors and coaches get together, however, and it may be that lines will be tightened in an effort to keep football as a primary sport of the colleges.

"Our interest in discouraging professional football is purely selfish I'll admit," Griffith said. "We'd rather have the crowds come to our games and we'd rather have the gate receipts than to have the professional promoters get them."

"And we are justified for this reason—money that we take in goes back into the development of sports, into the building of gymnasiums, the purchase of equipment and the making of an opportunity for more boys to engage in athletics. The money that the professionals take in goes into the pockets of the players and managers."

Another interesting topic that is almost certain to be discussed by the coaches and athletic directors, is the matter of postponing games when weather conditions are detrimental to good games. Due to an unusually rainy autumn, several of the Big Ten football games this year were played on fields that resembled barnyards after a three-day downpour and the ball was so wet and slippery that the open style of play was virtually impossible.

Several of the coaches expressed a desire to investigate the possibility of postponing games under such conditions. An obstacle they will encounter, however, will be the fact that thousands of rooters frequently accompany a team on its important trips and a postponement would make it almost impossible for them to see the game if another trip were made necessary.

Playing rules are not expected to receive much attention at this year's meeting as there has been general satisfaction with the rules as revised last year.

Coaches and athletic directors from non-conference colleges have been invited to attend and some of them are expected to sign up Big Ten schools for interconference games next season.

A feature of this year's meeting will be the attendance of many high school coaches. An effort is to be made to discourage the recruiting of high school athletes to certain colleges before their prep school careers are ended.

THE RADIOLA BASKETBALL TEAM SCHEDULE

INTERESTING GAMES TO BE PLAYED IN BRAINERD AND OUTSIDE

CONTESTANTS INCLUDE PINE RIVER CITY TEAM, MINNEAPOLIS STEWART TEAM, ETC.

The Radiola basketball team is arranging a schedule of interesting games, both in Brainerd and on other floors. Lawrence Ericsson, manager, has been in touch with some of the strongest teams in this vicinity, and the result is the booking of three fast games for the next ten days.

Starting Friday, the team will face Pine River city team, Minneapolis Stewart church team, and Aitkin Co. B team in order. The first game, with Pine River, will be played at that city, and a number of local fans are planning to accompany the team.

On Saturday night, at 8:30 o'clock the Radiolas will play the fast Stewart church team of Minneapolis. This team has on its roster three former Central High School players, Ralph Gale, star of last year's Central five, Kenny Oliver, of the 1923-24 team, and also captain of its baseball team in 1924, and Lyman Gross, a "C" man of earlier years. Other members of the team were members of the Stewart Intermediate team which was runners-up for the Minneapolis city championship in the church league three years ago.

This game will afford local fans an opportunity to see a fast independent game. The time has been set at 8:30 in order to give everyone a chance to get to the game after stores close.

The Radiolas play Co. B team of Aitkin at that city on Dec. 10.

THAT ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 1.—Stout-hearted experts, who are willing to take a chance on life and limb by venturing an opinion of the eleven best football players, will have to make a plea for mercy this season to that vast jury box which seats a couple of millions of rabid football fans.

In past years the ordinary fellow could get by fairly safe with his selection because Walter Camp's team was the only one considered as official and those who differed with the pioneer of All-American team picking were considered of such trivial importance as to be unworthy of recognition.

This year there will be no official team. The father of the idea is dead and there is no one with the prestige to step into his shoes. The expert who braves an opinion this year will have to prepare himself to hear—"You big fat-head, what right have you to pick a team? What do you know about football?"

If there were any one who knew everything about football and football players that there is to know, who had a set of radio eyes that could see every play in every game on every field and who couldn't make a mistake, he would have a job like draining the ocean with a shoe horn to pick the best eleven from the eleven hundred great players that roamed the gridiron this year.

Coming from the Princeton-Yale game, one of those rabid fans, who happened to be from Princeton, was seated in a drawing room with several experts.

"Well," he said, opening the argument, "It ought to be easy to pick an All-American team now. Who's your first choice?"

"GRANGE," the experts snapped back in chorus.

"Who's next?"

"Oberlander," almost as emphatically.

"Next?"

"Tryon."

"Then whom?"

"Nevers."

With that there was a roar of indignation from the Princeton man that rattled the window panes.

"You fellows must be crazy," he roared. "Pickin' a fellow from the coast on nothing but propaganda. You've seen Jakey Slagle play a couple of times. What you going to do with him? Joe Prendegast is as good as that Nevers and Grange hasn't much on Slagle. No wonder you guys get the berries."

It was fortunate for the safety of all present that the train arrived at its destination before the argument had passed from the backfield into the line selections because there were almost as many outstanding forwards as there were brilliant backs.

There are too many—"Whaddye goin' to do with?" for comfort. If you pick Grange, for quarter, Oberlander, Tryon and Slagle, what is going to be done with Benny Friedman, Cowboy Kutsch, Myles Lane, Nevers, Al Kreuz, Borelli, Zev Graham, Almqvist, Parker, Allen, Wyckoff and others too numerous to mention.

CLAIM GRAIN RATES HIGHER THAN ON ORE

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 1.—(UP)—Grain rates are unjustly higher than transportation charges on ore for corresponding service, N. E. Williams, traffic expert for the Fargo Commercial club, charged today at the Interstate Commerce commission rate hearing.

Gross earnings of the Great Northern on 65,000 cars of wheat were $11,400,000 while gross earnings on 236,000 cars of ore for a similar haul were only $10,000,000, according to Williams. The reason given was that competition with the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern forced better service.

The Great Northern has in storage seven months of the year more than 10,000 ore cars, representing a great tieup of equipment, he said. Williams also contrasted gross earnings of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern with Canadian roads to support his contention that increased rates on grain should not be granted.

The Christmas Seal

The sale of the Christmas seal was originated by a postal clerk in Denmark some twenty-two years ago while sorting Christmas packages in a small town in that country. In 1907 it was introduced in the United States by a nurse who sold Christmas seals to raise money for the fight against tuberculosis, in Delaware. Since that time it has had a steady growth until it is now an important factor in the fight against the Great White Plague which causes more deaths during the most productive age of our citizens than any other disease.

For 2,500 years tuberculosis has taken away young people particularly when they should have been young and strong in the battle of life, causing untold grief and sorrow and costing the country millions of dollars in the death and incapacitating of our citizens at the most productive period of their lives.

The steady fight that has been made against tuberculosis, especially since 1910, has shown a very happy result, since the deaths from this cause has been almost out in half and at present has fallen into fourth place as a cause of death.

All citizens are interested in this fight, for tuberculosis is no respecter of person. It attacks people in all walks of life; rich, poor; doctors and all professions suffer alike. The writer has seen many sad examples of this in his own experience, only this year he has lost two personal friends, brilliant representatives of two of our leading professions, law and medicine.

Twenty years ago only five states were making any active fight against this disease. Today, all of our forty-eight states are working together in solid ranks to radiate this scourge and some of the societies are entirely financed by the sale of the Christmas Seal. Only five per cent of the money spent goes to the National association for the prevention of tuberculosis. The other ninety-five per cent stays right here in Minnesota, so it behooves us all to buy the Christmas Seal stamp for in doing so we are paying a good insurance on our lives and the lives of posterity. So let one and all buy to our capacity as the fight against this disease means more to us than most anything in the way of saving our boys and girls from disease. No home is safe until all are safe.

The Moose lodge has made rapid progress in its membership drive, having 100 new candidates. Marion Van Iken, district supervisor of the Loyal Order of Moose who is in charge of the membership drive predicts a membership of 700 members.

The Loyal Order of Moose is a fraternal benevolent and social organization, paying sick and accident benefits of $10 per week. Their dues are $14 per year. The lodge protects its members and his family and other dependents. The age limit is from 21 to 85 years. In case of death of the father, the family are sent to Mooseheart, where the children are given a high school education and vocational training, 28 different crafts and professions being taught.

Mooseheart is a city—not an orphan asylum. It has a population of 2,000 of which 1,260 are children of deceased members. Children there are given the advantage of the 100 per cent American standard of living. They live in cottages—not dormitories as is the general impression—each having its own kitchen, dining rooms and other home facilities. The children do not wear uniforms, but are taught to select their own clothing which, of course, is paid by the Mooseheart Regents. Every child has a bank account in the "Student's Bank" operated solely for their instruction and education. Corporal punishment is not tolerated at Mooseheart. The children are governed by the laws of the "Assembly," a self-governing body of which each student is a member, this body being guided by the superintendent.

In case of a mother dying, the children are cared for in Mooseheart by some other mother.

Moosehaven is known as the city of opportunity where disabled Moose and their wives may spend their declining days in peace and happiness. They are given a cottage, clothes, groceries, medical attention and $10 per month pension and in case of death, they are given burial.

In case of families who do not care to leave their own homes or may not be eligible because of contagious disease, the Extension Service which was started about a year ago takes care of them.

The Loyal Order of Moose is not a charitable institution. The members get what they pay for. The dues cannot be less than $10 per annum or more than $14.

Mr. Van Iken will remain here several days longer and then go to Moosehaven for a short visit. He is well impressed with the city.

present crop on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Reports of increasing demands from Europe induced a big flood of buying orders.

May wheat, new, gained 5 cents, closing at $1.67 and May wheat, old, gained 4½ cents at $1.64½. July wheat gained 2½ cents.

STOCK MARKET READJUSTS SELF

New York, Dec. 1.—Today's session gave additional evidence that the stock market was rapidly completing the readjustment of its technical position and was steadily breaking away from its recent nervousness over the credit situation. Some further attempts were made to offer prices down on a basis of five per cent call money and reports that the federal reserve bank of New York would advance its discount rate at Thursday's meeting.

But these reports were altogether unsuccessful in forcing liquidation. When buying activity was resumed, considerable animation in many sections of the list during the afternoon.

U. S. Steel and American Can were the principal points of strength among the pivotal industrials. Motors gave indications of resuming their forward movement with Chandler, Pierce Arrow and Chrysler the best acting stocks. Ralls derived upward impulse from the revival of consolidation plans with Kansas City Southern and other southwestern issues in the greatest demand.

The market closed irregular.

300 N. D. FARMERS ATTEND LIVESTOCK SHOW AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(UP)—Three hundred North Dakota farmers arrived on a special train today to attend the International Livestock exposition. Their appearance was significant because it was another sign of North Dakota's change from a "one-crop state."

The crown of the North Dakota wheat king is being tilted and supplanted by a wreath of alfalfa, corn silage, and sweet clover.

When North Dakota was exclusively a wheat growing state 30 years ago, James J. Hill, the railroad king, preached to the farmers of the state the necessity of diversified farming, and his answer was carried on the special train.

The 300 North Dakotans bore a challenge to the corn belt states that their long held monopoly of blue ribbons at International Livestock shows is in danger of weakening before the new northwest with its altered farm policy.

The special train was the first one of farmers that has been run into Chicago from the northwest since the world war and was declared to be a testimonial to the revival of prosperity that has put the northwest farmer back on his feet.

North Dakota, which still produces $100,000,000 worth of wheat annually, has added $25,000,000 yearly from its dairying and hog raising, the delegation pointed out.

HARTWELL FARWELL DENIED A PAROLE

Waupun, Wis., Dec. 1.—(UP)—Hartwell Farwell, Windsor, Wis., convicted in 1922 for murder of Theophil Hosten and sentenced to seven years in state's prison was denied a parole here last night by the state board of public control.

Farwell's trial brought out that he had first murdered Hosten and then placed his body in a strawstack which he set fire to. Motive for the crime was given as Mosten's unwelcome attentions to Farwell's sister.

HUNT FOR BURIED GOLD ON NEBRASKA FARM OF BROTHERS MAY UNEARTH TREASURE OF $20,000 TO $60,000

Currency totalling $46,765 has been dug up on the farm of Charles and Theodore Strelow in Nebraska near Omaha. No gold has been found as yet, but it is believed that the brothers buried gold to the amount of possibly $60,000. Theodore died some time ago but Charles is still alive in an insane asylum. The brothers left Chicago in 1876 and buried the money soon after buying the farm. They had withdrawn it from a bank, fearing it would fall. County Assessor O. C. Bell has announced that he will collect back taxes against the hidden money.

"WORKER OF TODAY ENJOYS HIGHEST WAGE IN HISTORY"

Washington, Dec. 1.—(UP)—"The worker of today enjoys the highest wages ever paid in history, the shortest hours, the highest standard of living and the respect that is now paid to the man who works," Secretary of Labor Davis said in his annual report today.

"It has been a year of harmonious prosperity," said Davis. "With the exceptions of a few localities and special conditions prevailing in certain industries the volume of employment is greater than a year ago, the average increase being 7.4 per cent."

"The wage level in general has been raised an average per capita of 6.6 per cent; the building of homes in general continued on a large scale."

WINNIPEG DEALS HARSHLY WITH ITS HOLDUP BANDITS

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 1.—Winnipeg's holdup men are receiving severe penalties at the hands of court officials who are determined to stamp out the wave of robberies and sluggings that has been going on the last few months.

This morning Judge Fullerton sentenced William Ditchfield to the penitentiary for four years and ordered 20 lashes in addition. Ditchfield slugged Charles Steinmiz on a lonely road near the city and obtained $95.

Talent and a well developed desire to fill a real position in the drafting line, later opening into an unlimited field in engineering work?

Applicants must have had an eighth grade schooling, must be over twenty-one years old, and must now be employed in some regular work which need not necessarily be drafting. These openings are primarily for men with talent who have not had the opportunity to earn a living and develop their talent at the same time.

They will be given an absolute guarantee in writing both as to position and salary within a specified time or at the expiration of that time an immediate refund of the small sum charged for their education. They will be furnished with instruments, drawing table, and projectograph. They will be expected to devote at least nine hours each week at home to preparation for their positions.

Your application must state age, married or single, kind of work at which you are now employed, schooling, and any other information which you think we should have.
